HOPE FADES FOR LOST CLIPPER

City's 1938 Operating Fund Boosted $29,000

COUNCIL ACTS ON ORDINANCE FRIDAY NIGHT

Appropriation Bill Sets Up $268,000 General Fund; Total Is $696,000.

SPEEDY ACTION EXPECTED

Trims Waterworks Allocation, Allows $4,000 for New Fire Station.

A 1938 appropriation ordinance allocating $696,573 for the operation of the city government will go to council at a special meeting Friday night.

The measure was drafted last night at a meeting of council's finance committee with Mayor Claude M. Hunter, Service-Safety Director Tracy C. Styert, Auditor Paul L. Kelley and Solicitor Marion D. Ward. Members of the finance committee are Fred Miller, chairman; C. N. Shultz and George Berg.

Sets Up $268,900 Fund.

A total of $268,909 is set up in the city's general fund for 1938, which represents an increase of $29,000 over what was actually expended in 1937.

Although the 1937 general fund total was $259,142, fire and police pensions were paid from it, amounting to $19,285 and reducing the amount available for other purposes to $239,857. This year, the police and fire pension allocations are set up outside the general fund and no part of the $268,909 will be used for that purpose. The bill, however, increases the allocation for pension payments from $19,285 in 1937 to $21,610 for this year.

The total of the bill, including general fund, bond retirement, water, sewer and garbage costs—these three departments are expected to be self-sustaining—and street repairs from anticipated state taxes, is $696,573. Last year the total outlay for all purposes and disregarding revenues from self-sustaining departments, was $666,748.

Calls Special Session.

Speedy action is expected on the measure at Friday night's council meeting. Mayor Hunter issued the call for the meeting after the committee session, in order to make money available for current expenditures. A city pay day

MORE SNOW DUE

Mercury Heads Downward After Climb to 36 Today.

Although the storm of "major proportions" which was reported headed out of the northwest toward Ohio seemed to have dissolved itself, the forecast predicted colder weather with snow flurries tonight and Thursday.

After climbing from a low of 29 during the night to 36 at 10:30 a. m. today, the mercury started downward, and at noon the reading was 33, according to Observer Otto Sprunger. There were brief snow flurries with intermitten periods of sunshine during the morning.

The midwest reported colder weather today—the 50th anniversary of the "great blizzard" of 1888, when more than 100 were killed by a terrific snowstorm.

MAYOR SCORED

$31,000 Strike Fund Hit In Examiner's Report.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— State Examiner G. R. Egbert reported today that Mayor C. R. Ely of Euclid Village, Cuyahoga county, failed to handle through the village treasury $31,918 paid by the Addressograph-Multigraph company for special police protection rendered during a strike May 22, 1935, to July 3, 1935.

The report said Mayor Ely made payments directly to agencies which hired special officers for strike duty.

MAN FOUND DEAD

Father of Eight Children Ruled Victim of Exposure.

LORAIN—The body of Samuel Krosky, 55 Lorain steel worker who had been missing since Saturday morning, was found yesterday in a wooded lot off Pearl Road just south of the city limits.

Coroner S. C. Ward returned a verdict of death from exposure.

Father of eight children, Krosky was a foundry worker.

High on a Montana mountain, the Northwest Airlines' "Sky Zephyr" crashed Monday night, taking a toll of 10 lives. Picture shows the snow-covered wastes, near Bozeman, Mont., not far from the Continental Divide, where the plane fell. The task of identifying the bodies was proceeding slowly today. Inset at the top shows the spot at which the plane crashed, and the pilot, Nick B. Mamer, of Spokane, Wash.

PUTS OKAY ON REFORMATORY

Franklin Jury Lists O. S. R. In Report; Draw Special Richland Panel Today.

While preparations went ahead today for the impaneling of a special Richland county grand jury to investigate parole conditions at the Mansfield reformatory, a Franklin county jury reported it believed the state institution here and the London prison farm were being operated properly.

The Franklin county jury visited the reformatory, Dec. 28 to inspect the institution and later went to Marysville and London on similar visits.

The jury's partial report, submitted to Gov. Martin L. Davey today, expressed the opinion that the paroling of prisoners was sound in principle, but added that "we find that the application of that principle in Ohio leaves much to be desired.

The jury further recommended the construction of a new prison addition, possibly near London; branded Judge Harrison W. Jewell of Delaware, newly appointed member of the parole board as "temperamentally unfitted for his work," and recommended the discharge of two state parole officers.

The jury had worked since Nov.

OFFERS TO AID 'HONEST' PROBE

Anti-Liquor League Submits Proposal to Davey.

COLUMBUS— (U.P.) —The anti-liquor league, incorporated last November, today addressed an open letter to Governor Davey, offering the league's assistance in an "honest" investigation of alleged "legal graft" in state departments.

In the letter, the league suggested a five-man investigating board, two to be named by the governor; a newspaperman and a business man to be named by the league, and a fifth member to be elected by the other four.

The league also offered to finance an investigation of state departments and officials under such a proposed board.

Russia Won't Replace Diplomat On Roumanian Post.

BUKHAREST—(U.P.)—The Russian ambassador to Roumania, Michael S. Ostrovski, was recalled to Moscow today and will not be replaced.

Strained relations between Moscow and the new Fascist-inclined government of Premier Octavian Goga were understood to have been responsible for the move.

Indiana 'Marriage Mills' Closed by Court Ruling

'Gretna Greens' With 24-Hour Service to Lose Cash Through Decision Upholding State Law of 1852.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—(U.P.)—Indiana's famed "Gretna Greens," featuring a 24-hour service as a haven for out-of-state couples seeking quick and easy marriage, were closed today by a ruling of the state supreme court.

The high tribunal, in a sharply worded decision, upheld the constitutionality of a law passed in 1852, providing that marriage permits be issued only by the "clerk" of the county where the female resides."

Profitable Business.

It was a death blow to the prosperous marriage mills of Crown Point, Valparaiso, Auburn, South Bend and other northern and eastern Indiana county seat towns which have grossed thousands of dollars since neighboring states passed more stringent marriage laws.

The ruling held that every county clerk who issued a marriage license to a non-resident woman violated a law which "still is in effect."

The ruling made no mention of the thousands of previous marriages involving non-resident couples and made no attempt to determine their legal status.

"The very fact that thousands of couples during the last few months have been rushing to Lake county, Indiana, from Cook county (Chicago) Illinois, and other states to avoid the marriage regulations there, shows conclusively the wisdom of the Indiana law," the court's ruling said.

"One of the great evils in the country today is the loose marriage and divorce laws," the opinion said.

SINK TWO SHIPS

Chinese Planes Attack 4 Japanese Warships.

HANKOW—(U.P.)—The Chinese Central News Agency reported today that Chinese airplanes had sunk two of four Japanese warships which sailed up the Yangtse from Wuhu, above Nanking. It was asserted that two Japanese munitions planes were bombed in Anhwei Province, west of Nanking and that two raiding Japanese airplanes were shot down in Kwangsi Province, west of Canton.

Knox Says Party Must Take 'Positive' Role or 'Die.'

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—Col. Frank Knox, 1936 Republican vice presidential candidate, warned today that unless the Republican party took a "positive" role in national affairs again "its services is ended and the party will die."

Knox spoke last night at a testimonial dinner honoring Mayor Harold H. Burton, recently re-elected as mayor.

GET 'AIRING'

Water Plans to Be Taken Up at Town Hall Tonight.

Discussion of Mansfield's water problems and proposed improvements in the city's water system, now under consideration by council, will be given a public airing tonight as Town Hall meetings are resumed at the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Farmers Bank building.

The water program calling for the expenditures over a period of years of more than $600,000, will be laid before the meeting in a round table discussion conducted by C. L. VanDerau, chairman of the C of C. water development committee.

Town Hall was inaugurated last year by the chamber for the discussion of municipal problems with the meetings open to the general public. Four sessions were conducted before the plan was recessed for the summer. The program, designed to arouse public interest in civic affairs, gained national recognition.

Tonight's meeting gets under way at 7:30.

IDENTIFY 3 OF PLANE'S 10 DEAD

Relatives, Friends Inspect Bodies, Some Decapitated In Montana Crash.

BOZEMAN, Mont.—(AP)—Identification of the bodies of seven of the 10 victims of the Northwest Airlines fiery plane crash 14 miles east of here proceeded slowly today.

Relatives and friends gathered at a Bozeman mortuary to identify rings, metal belt buckles or unburned clothing found on the bodies while officials investigated the cause of the tragedy.

Coroner Howard Nelson of Gallatin county said some of the bodies were dismembered, at least two lacking heads. One, he said, was merely a torso.

He expressed belief all bodies would be identified, although it was necessary to rely on the few trinkets that withstood the tremendous heat generated when the gas tanks of the plane exploded as it crashed Monday in the Bridger mountains near here.

The coroner said chevrons on the sleeves of Pilot Nick Mamer and Co-pilot F. W. West, both of Seattle, identified their bodies.

A belt buckle found on another body, he said, was identified by Kenneth and Russel Levin, of Detroit, one of the eight passengers.

Coroner Nelson said an inquest would be held tonight.

WHITE HOUSE PARLEY BUOYS BIG BUSINESS

Closer Co-Operation Seen as 5 Industrialists Discuss Recession Problem.

REACH 'UNDERSTANDING'

Conference With Roosevelt Helpful, Sloan, Weir, 3 Others Agree.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper announced today that 50 of the nation's outstanding business leaders will meet with President Roosevelt Jan. 19 to discuss co-operative efforts toward economic recovery.

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Predictions of closer government-business co-operation, made at the White House by five prominent industrialists, encouraged administration officials today in their efforts to stem the recession.

Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman of the General Motors corporation, acted as spokesman for the business men when they talked to reporters last night after an hour and a half in Mr. Roosevelt's office. Sloan read a brief statement, penciled on two sheets from a small pad:

'Constructive Talk.'

"We have had an interesting and constructive talk with the president. All of us agree we have a better understanding of each other's problems, out of which we are sure will come closer co-operation in meeting the difficulties of the moment."

The others nodded assent. They were Ernest T. Weir, chairman of the National Steel corporation; M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad; Colby Chester, chairman of the General Foods corporation and chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers, and Lewis Brown, president of the Johnsville corporation.

Chester, Weir and Sloan were active members of the Liberty league, which until the 1936 election opposed Roosevelt policies. Donald Richberg, former NRA administrator and now a Washington attorney, also attended the conference. He said it had been a "useful" one.

May Help President.

Richberg's presence led to speculation that he might help Mr. Roosevelt shape the message which he intends to send congress soon on legislation to strengthen anti-trust laws. He frequently has conferred with Mr. Roosevelt on economic problems.

ODD MISHAP

Acetylene Torches Used To Free Street Car Rider.

LOS ANGELES—(U.P.)—Alexander Oliphant, 32, one of the most surprised commuters ever to ride a street car, was resting comfortably in a hospital today.

A section of three-quarter inch pipe popped through the floor as he rode to work, pierced his thigh, and pinned him to the seat for 35 minutes until rescuers cut it through with an acetylene torch.

The foot-long pipe apparently lay in the groove beside the rail. A car wheel curved it and flipped it back, driving it up through the heavy floor and wooden seat.

A fire and a street car wrecking crew were called. It took another 20 minutes to free him.

Principal Jesse Beer of Senior High school, and his assistant, Herman D. Bishop, will "resign" for eight hours tomorrow, in favor of two Senior boys and the other 48 members of the faculty will take a "back seat" while 200 students "show 'em how."

Thursday will be the first "student day" observance, and if it works out satisfactorily, it may become an annual affair.

For one day students will become teachers and the regular instructors will visit the different classrooms and watch the new "teachers" handle classes. Every faculty and administrative position at the school will be taken over by students, including that of librarian, physical education directors, orchestra director, athletic director, office secretary, class instructors and principals.

The two highest positions on the staff, that of principal and his assistant will be taken over by two boys of the senior class Paul Smith, 18, will replace Principal Beer, while John Hallabrin, 17, will be "Mr. Bishop."

Smith is president of the January graduating class and the high school band, while Hallabrin was captain of the high school

OIL SEEN ON WATER

Smoke Also Seen In Vicinity Of Tutuila Island; Planes Search All Night.

PAGO PAGO, Tutuila, American Samoa — (AP) — Hope waned today for the transpacific Samoan Clipper and her crew of seven which vanished mysteriously yesterday a few minutes out of Tutuila.

Fear grew here that the 21-ton flying boat's gasoline caught fire as it was being dumped into the Pacific ocean and exploded, killing its ace commander, Capt. Edwin C. Musick, and the six other crewmen. The Clipper carried no passengers.

The plane, only an estimated three minutes out of Pago Pago, was dumping its gasoline preparatory to landing when last heard from at 8:27 a. m. yesterday (3:27 p. m. EST).

Oil on Water.

Oil slick was reported found on the water 12 miles off Tutuila island. In the same vicinity a column of smoke was reported sighted yesterday. The feeling here was that the smoke marked the death trail of the Clipper and her crew.

No further word came from the ship after preparations to land were reported by Capt. Musick, 43-year-old veteran transoceanic aviator. He was on his last flight with the Clipper in Pan American Airways' new Honolulu-to-New Zealand service.

The naval aircraft tender Aycot put out from Pago Pago to maintain a night long search for flares. After daylight it investigated the reported oil slick in an effort to determine whether it might mark the Samoan Clipper's burial ground.

At that spot it scheduled a rendezvous today with a naval plane piloted by Lieut. T. B. Williamson, who made a fruitless five-hour aerial search yesterday. His take off was set for dawn (12:30 p. m. EST).

English officials were reported to have sent out a ship to scour the many islands in nearby British Samoa.

Natives Watch Skies.

Natives throughout all the Samoan islands were asked to post lookouts on mountain peaks. Absence of ships in this area of the South Pacific handicapped the search. Requests were expected to be sent to steamships coming

STILL DEBATING

Filibuster Leaders Claiming Lynching Bill Victory.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)—Leaders of the senate filibuster against the anti-lynching bill publicly claimed for the first time today that they had a good chance of preventing enactment of the controversial measure.

"Things are looking better all the time," Sen. Tom Connally, (D., Tex.), leader of the filibuster, said. "I think we have a good chance now. We can go until Christmas if necessary."

Although the sponsors of the bill, Sen. Robert F. Wagner (D., N. Y.) and Sen. Frederick Van Nuys (D., Ind.), continued optimistic of getting a vote, several developments indicated that the next few days would be the decisive stage in the conflict.

FIRST OF RURAL INSTITUTES SET FOR WEEK-END

Two-Day Community Gathering Opens In Weller Township Friday Morning.

The 1938 community institute season in Richland county will open Friday morning with a session in the Union high school in Weller township, County Agent George B. Ganyard said today.

The Weller institute will continue through Saturday, with most of the program to be presented by talent from the local community.

Other January institutes in the county include one at Bellville, Jan. 18 and 19; at Lucas Jan. 19 and 20, and at Adario, Jan. 21 and 22.

2 to Address Sessions.

State institute speakers scheduled for the Bellville, Lucas and Adario meetings are Mrs. C. R. Milnor of Fairfield county, and H. E. Stout of Holmesville, Holmes county.

By substituting the word "community" for "farmers" in describing their institutes, most of the institute committees in the county are attempting to enlist the support of their entire community in conducting the annual sessions, it was said.

In most townships, the programs include talks on general topics by state speakers and music and other entertainment features presented by schools and local talent.

A Farmer's Diary

January 11.

DURING the night two more inches of snow fell.

"No cloud above, no earth below—

A universe of sky and snow."

Common things had become unreal. The thick tall reeds by the margin of the pond now guarded it like whited soldiers. Corn shocks in nearby fields stood like maidens in white caps and aprons. The woven wire fence by the roadside was a broad white ribbon of lace. The wild carrots, beyond it, with their umbels filled with snow, were cotton fields ready for harvest.

I walked along a winding byroad, with trees on either side. The branches made a frosted archway; ahead a labyrinth of pure white. No motion. A strange, inspiring silence. I felt its perfection and its power, and I, too, stood motionless at its amazing beauty.

Muscular Rheumatic Pains

It takes more than "just a salve" to draw them out. It takes a "counter-irritant" like good old Musterole—soothing, warming, penetrating and helpful in drawing out the local congestion and pain when rubbed on the aching spots.

Muscular lumbago, soreness and stiffness generally yield promptly.

Better than the old-fashioned mustard plaster, Musterole has been used by millions for 30 years. Recommended by many doctors and nurses. All druggists'. In three strengths: Regular Strength, Children's (mild), and Extra Strong.

Lose Bad Breath—Keep Your Friends

In spite of all that has been written about bad breath, thousands still lose friends through this unpleasant fault. Yet sour stomach with its resultant bad breath is frequently only the result of constipation. Just as it can also cause loss of appetite, early weakness, nervousness, mental dullness.

So keep regular. And if you need to assist Nature, use Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. This gentle laxative can help bring relief. Extremely important, too, is the mild stimulation it gives the flow of bile from the liver, without the discomfort of drastic, irritating drugs. That's why millions are sold yearly. The ambassador agreed to hold the sum in trust only until it was decided how the money should be used.

Editors of the newspapers Nichi and Mainichi took the fund to the foreign office. It was raised as a consolation gift after the Panay was sunk above Nanking by Japanese naval planes on Dec. 12.

PUTS OKAY ON REFORMATORY

Franklin Jury Lists O. S. R. In Report; Draw Special Richland Panel Today.

The jury had worked since Nov. 22 in investigating housing conditions at Ohio penitentiary and alleged parole system violations.

The Richland county jury commission was scheduled to draw the names of 15 grand jurors at 2 p. m. today at the courthouse. The jury will conduct an investigation of the parole system as it effects the Mansfield reformatory beginning next Monday.

The special jury of Richland county residents will meet at the courthouse Monday morning for instructions before going to the reformatory for its sessions. George Hurley, assistant attorney general, will be in charge of the investigation here which is expected to bring inmates and former inmates of the reformatory before the jury to testify.

In its report, the Franklin county jury suggested to Gov. Martin L. Davey that the parole board should be composed of an odd number of members to prevent a tie vote; that Parole Officers W. E. Grennell of Springfield and F. J. Griffith of Canton be discharged, and that a new hospital be built at the present penitentiary in Columbus.

Grennell and Griffith were described in the report as "wholly unfitted" for their posts because of "questionable transactions" with paroled convicts.

Conditions at Ohio penitentiary were labeled "a disgrace to the state." The prison hospital was pictured as "unsuited, lacking in equipment, possessing unsanitary conditions and a fire-trap."

"Any words which this jury might employ to depict the existing situation would not properly portray the depravities practiced there and the conditions which incarcerated men are subjected to at the penitentiary," the jury's report said.

Urges Higher Wages.

Among other major recommendations included in the report were those for increasing the wages of guards, doctors and other attendants at the prison as soon as the state's finances will permit; for doubling the staff of investigators for the parole board (the board now has six members); for having all prison records kept by persons other than convicts; for employment of an assistant superintendent at the London prison farm; and for a law requiring the parole board to ask guards, chaplains and other prison attendants for their recommendations when paroles are being considered.

Another recommendation by the jury would provide that each prisoner should be entitled to representation, either by an attorney or someone of his choice, before the parole board. It would also provide an assistant attorney general to represent prisoners who lack funds to employ counsel to represent them before the board.

There was high praise in the jury's report for the administration of the Marysville reformatory for women which was described as "immaculate."

"Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the administration of the Marysville reformatory, administered by Mrs. Marguerite Reilley," the report said.

Before leaving for a vacation following a recess called by the grand jury at Columbus, Atty. Gen. Duffy said he intended to pursue at the Mansfield reformatory "leads" uncovered by the Franklin county grand jury.

The attorney general added that he had only $300 left in his investigation fund and was forced to dismiss one of his investigators because of the lack of money. The state senate, however, has passed a bill to appropriate $20,000 for the parole investigation and the bill is awaiting action in the house of representatives.

Following the Mansfield jury session, special grand juries are to be impaneled at the London Prison farm and the Marysville Reformatory for women to probe alleged parole violations at those state institutions.

PEACE OFFER BY JAPANESE SEEN

Leaders Work on Final Draft of 'Statement of Policy' Toward Chinese.

TOKYO—(U.P.)—Japanese leaders as the result of an imperial conference, are completing a program of diplomatic and military action which may include a final effort to effect a peace agreement with China, it was announced today.

Unusual secrecy attached to the many conferences which had followed yesterday's solemn conference under Emperor Hirohito, fifth of the sort in modern Japanese history.

But in well-informed quarters the belief grew that there was being worked out not a one-track line of action but a program which would take account of all possibe developments, including a sudden peace move.

After yesterday's imperial conference, there was a cabinet meeting. Today, army, navy and foreign office authorities were understood to be drawing up separate statements, based on the minutes of the imperial conference. It was indicated that these statements would be submitted, in turn, to the cabinet and the emperor as head of the imperial conference.

Friday was suggested as the day on which a final statement of policy might be expected.

GETS $100 FINE

ASHLAND—Richard Wells, of Mansfield, charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit personal violence, pleaded guilty on being arraigned before Common Pleas Judge C. C. Chapman here, and was fined $100 and costs, and ordered confined to the Toledo workhouse until the fine is paid.

U. S. TO SPEND 350 MILLIONS BEYOND BUDGET

Growing Expenses for Relief, National Defenses Seen as Causes for Increase.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Growing belief that larger appropriations will be needed for national defense, agriculture and relief gave strong indications today that the federal government will be forced to spend at least $350,000,000 more in the next fiscal year than was forecast in the annual budget message.

President Roosevelt estimated last week that expenditures, exclusive of debt retirement, for the year ending June 30, 1939, would total $6,869,043,000.

Coincidentally, acknowledgement by agriculture department officials that additional funds almost certainly would be needed between now and June 30 for relief of needy farmers seemed destined to upset all budget calculations for the current fiscal year.

Given Veto Power.

The one counter-balancing factor in the budgetary picture was the passage by the house yesterday of a provision which would give the president limited "item veto" power over all supply measures. With the power to eliminate or reduce any item in any appropriation bill—with the exception of the veterans administration appropriation — Mr. Roosevelt will be able to make cuts to compensate for possible increases in spending for agriculture, relief and national defense.

The major threat to spending estimates for the 1939 fiscal year was the anticipated request by Mr. Roosevelt for additional appropriations for national defense. Congressional sources said they had received hints that the president might seek from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 above the $991,300,000 estimated for national defense needs.

Some administration officials conceded that relief needs might exceed present estimates unless there is a sudden upturn in business activity and employment within the next few months. If improvement fails to materialize, relief experts estimated that not less than $200,000,000 of additional funds would be needed for relief.

The first of the 1939 fiscal year appropriations bills, which included the "item veto" amendment, was sent to the senate today with a $3,532,000 savings under the amount Mr. Roosevelt had requested. The bill appropriated nearly $1,415,000,000 for 39 independent agencies.

The veto provision, sponsored by Rep. Clifton A. Woodrum, D. Va., specifically exempted the veterans' administratin from reductions. Congress would retain power to override the president's cuts by a simple majority vote through a provision requiring him to send his executive order back to lie over 60 days before becoming effective. Appropriations cut or eliminated would be impounded and returned to the treasury.

The senate must still act on the veto provision which Mr. Roosevelt recommended in his budget message to congress last week.

FUNERAL SET

MILLERSBURG—Funeral services for Mrs. Marioan Hamm, 83, who died at her home Tuesday morning will be held at the residence at 2:30 p. m. Thursday. Rev. Joseph Kenney, pastor of First Methodist church of Millersburg will officiate and burial made in Oak Hill cemetery here.

Mrs. Hamm is survived by a son, John E. Hamm, one grandson and one great grandson all of Milersburg. Her husband, Charles whom she married 53 years ago, preceded her in death in 1924.

Mansfielder Named

ROBERT TOBIAS

HEADS STATE HI-Y COUNCIL

Robert Tobias, Student at High School, Elected President of Ohio Association.

Activities of the Ohio State Hi-Y council for the year will be headed by Robert B. Tobias, 326 Park Avenue west, a member of the Senior Hi-Y club at Senior high school, and president of the 15th district Hi-Y council which includes Mansfield.

Tobias was elected to head the group at a meeting of the council in Columbus. The state council is made up of district presidents, and represent Hi-Y clubs throughout the state, and is directed by E. V. Donalrson, Columbus, area Boys Work secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Plans were discussed during the meeting for the second National Hi-Y congres to be held at Berea, Ky., next June. Ohio's quota for convention delegates will be 150. One delegate will represent every three clubs.

Plans are now being made by Tobias, and Ralph B. Chapman, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and advisor for the 15th district Hi-Y council, for a district meeting to be held in Mansfield.

VICTIM GAINS

Leaves Hospital Today After Relief Office Row.

Her condition showing rapid improvement, Mrs. Jerome Hecht, of 17½ West Second street, victim of an assault at county relief offices, 28 Orange street, late Monday by a 17-year-old colored girl, was to be released from General hospital today and removed to her home.

The girl, who pleaded guilty to assault and battery charges in Judge C. J. Anderson's juvenile court, was free on $500 property bond furnished by her father and a friend, L. T. Wisdom. Hearing has been set for Jan. 26.

The first attack allegedly occurred at the Richland county relief offices and the second at a filling station across the street where the girl is said to have followed Mrs. Hecht.

The altercation began, witnesses said, when a door slammed in the girl's face as Mrs. Hecht left the waiting room at the relief headquarters.

Mrs. Hecht suffered bruises and a severe head injury when she fell against the concrete base of a gasoline pump at the filling station.

65 AT BANQUET HONOR SLOUGH

Presented Ownership of Firm Founded In City 40 Years Ago By Father.

Herbert G. Slough, who has been manager of the insurance agency founded by his father, the late Edwin G. Slough 40 years ago, last night was presented with the bill of sale to the company which makes him owner as well as manager, at a banquet held at the ballroom of the Leland hotel.

Slough was host at the banquet which commemorated the founding of the company 40 years ago, and which was attended by 65 representatives of national insurance companies who are represented in Mansfield by the Slough agency.

The bill of sale, signed by representatives of the national companies, was presented to Slough by J. P. Hershberger, Columbus, field manager of the Royal Insurance company, one of four trustees who, with Slough, had directed the business of the agency since the death of the elder Slough in 1932. Other trustees, who were presented at the dinner, were M. F. Grimm, Columbus, field manager of Phoenix Fire Insurance company; Dudley A. Allen, Ohio representative of the Hartford Steam Boiler and Inspection Insurance company; and Attorney J. H. Gongwer of Mansfield.

Among the officials of national companies who were guests at the banquet were Roy E. Eblen, Hartford, Conn., of the Phoenix Fire Insurance company; L. H. Paine, Toledo, district manager of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company A. F. Graham, Cleveland, manager of the Hartford Steam Boiler and Inspection Insurance company; John Rygel, Chicago, secretary of the Hanover Insurance company; John Cashel, Chicago, manager of the Provident Washington company; E. W. Schoen, Chicago, of the Atlas Insurance company; W. G. Shipe, Chicago, assistant manager of the New Hampshire Insurance company.

Several Mansfield men were introduced and spoke briefly, among them Oliver C. Henkel and Frank A. Voegele.

The Hoffman orchestra furnished music during the dinner.

'KICK' FATAL

Students Using Drug Worse Than Morphine, Court Told.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— A federal inspector testified in Magistrate A. D. Braudon's court that Pittsburgh high school students were using a narcotic, "worse than marihuana or morphine" that shows no ill effects until the heart and kidneys collapse.

David L. Roush, a U. S. bureau of narcotics inspector, said the students were using the "damned hypnotic drug" in drinks "for a kick."

"It makes people go round on their hands and knees and claw at walls. If you were to see them you'd think they were crazy," he testified.

He said a youth was found unconscious from effects of the drug and that 50 capsules were found in his pickets.

MANSFIELD, OHIO . WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1938

NEW YORK DEMOCRATS—Secretary of Labor Perkins, Gov. Lehman and Postmaster General Farley together in New York.

1,000 Deputies Gather to Open First Red Parliament

STALIN'S WORD LAW, PLEDGE OF DELEGATES

Army Commanders, Milkmaids Factory Hands Convene In Session In Moscow.

MOSCOW—(AP)—Deputies wearing red army uniforms or the bright holiday garb of Soviet Russia's many nationalities met in the Kremlin today for the opening of the new red parliament.

The 1,143 men and women of undisputed loyalty to Joseph Stalin, Russia's strong man, brought instructions from home to tell Stalin that all his counsel and all his advice we deem to be law."

They included red army commanders, provincial chiefs of the secret police, milkmaids, tractor operators and factory hands, all chosen at elections to the Soviet of the union and the Soviet of nationalities December 12.

Travel By Sled.

Some of the Georgians, Armenians and representatives of a score of other nationalities making up the two-chambered parliament left home by dog sleds or camels and saw railroads and cities for the first time on their trips to Moscow.

The main question as parliament opened was whether Stalin, himself one of the deputies, would assume power openly as chairman of the new Soviet Presidium—the group which will exercise parliamentary powers when the chambers are not in session—or continue wielding power as secretary general of the Communist party.

In either case, it was agreed, his authority would remain undiminished.

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper has declared the parliament—known as the supreme Soviet—would be a working, not a talking" body, and outlined its program as:

1. Building the country's defenses against enemies without and 'capitalist agents" within;

2. Raising the standard of living;

3. Advancing the national economy to first rank in the world.

Future Doubtful.

That has been the program of the Soviet Union for the past several years. What the new congress, as an intended legislative body, could do to further it was, for foreign observers, a problem. There was some doubt among many foreigners that any legislative bills would be submitted during the session.

One of parliament's first tasks was selection of the presidium consisting of a chairman, 11 vice chairmen, a secretary and 24 members. It was expected that the presidium alone would do whatever lawmaking was to be done.

New Posts To Be Filled In Shift of U. S. Diplomats

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Roosevelt's recent shakeup of the diplomatic corps, the most extensive since he took office, is to be followed by several other appointments to key posts abroad.

The shift of Ambassador Joseph E. Davies from Russia to Belgium and the selection of Norman Armour, minister to Canada, as ambassador to Chile, will leave open the important Moscow and Ottawa posts.

Already vacant were the legations at Vienna, Bogota, Colombia, and Teheran, Iran.

Mr. Roosevelt also will have to appoint a new assistant secretary of state to succeed Hugh Wilson, who is to take the Berlin post, from which William E. Dodd resigned.

Altogether eight of 56 United States embassies and legations will be involved in the appointments just announced and those in early prospect.

NOVA MAN DIES

Axel Streigler, 50, Had Been Injured On Ashland Job.

WILLARD—Axel Striegler, 50, of Nova, died in the Willard Municipal hospital today. He had been confined to the hospital a week.

An autopsy will be performed today to determine whether death was the result of chest injuries suffered in an accident Oct. 20 at the Ashland Lumber company, Ashland, where he was employed. His wife is his only survivor. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

For the past two or three years Weigel has been with Columbia Broadcasting System, but recently went over to Mutual. He is announcing for late dance bands, and works largely over WGN Chicago. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weigel, sr., 27 Baldwin avenue.

A Marion avenue matron wondered why the two men with snow shovels exchanged amused glances when she offered them a job shoveling snow from the walks. But she was even more puzzled when one of them took the job and refused to accept any pay for it. "I'm from the gas company," he explained, "but I'm willing to help out." She's still apologizing for her mistake, and what's worse, she has to listen to her husband tell his friends about it.

Mansfield's Liberty park swimming pool was included in a recent pictorial story of Ohio WPA-built swimming pools, carried by the Columbus Dispatch, and it gave Architect Brumenshenkel, who designed it, quite a "lift." One of the photos is a general view of the pool, bath house, lake and spillway. Another shows Helen Zimmerman, Mansfield swimmer, receiving diving instructions from Eddie McVeil, Canton McKinley high school swimming star. Some of the pictures were the same as those appearing last September in The News-Journal, shortly after the pool had opened.

With the dust of 50 years obscuring its letters, a calendar of 1888 was found in a downtown store room which is being remodeled. It bears the name of John W. Wagner, wholesale hardware dealer, and founder of the present Wagner Hardware company at 152 North Diamond. The scene on the calendar is that of several pickaninnies being rolled into a snowball. More interesting, however, is the lithographed picture of one Mrs. Florence Potts, who had invented the "cold handle sadiron," sold by Wagners. A sadiron, in case you belong to the electric iron age, was the name of the old-fashioned flat irons.

Boy Scouts of troop No. 5 at Hedges school have gone into the publishing business as a sideline to their regular scout work. Each month the troop publishes a mimeographed newspaper which carries short stories of all scout activities. In the January issue, just out, the editors give particular mention to a new stove recently donated to the troop. Editors of the city's only Scout paper are Robert Burns, John Stretch and Richard Leech.

HELD AS BANDIT

Mansfielder Arrested In Jim Brown Store Robbery.

A 28-year-old Mansfield man was held in city jail today in connection with the two-week-old burglary of the Jim Brown store, 70 North Foster street, in which several guns and a number of blank checks were stolen.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said that questioning of the man, arrested by detectives at his home last night, would be continued today before charges would be filed.

Detectives said he had confessed breaking into the store and stealing the guns and the checks. They indicated that charges of burglary and larceny and forgery might be placed against him. The discovery of two forged checks tendered in two downtown business establishments last week, led to his arrest, police said.

FAY BESTS ACTRESS STANWYCK IN TIFF OVER BOY'S CUSTODY

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Frank Fay, actor and master of ceremonies, has a date tomorrow to visit the home of his divorced wife, Barbara Stanwyck, and chat with their adopted son, Dion.

Overruling the movie actress' contention that Fay was not fit to have custody of the five-year-old boy, Judge Goodwin Knight issued an order permitting Fay to take the child to his home every other Saturday, and to visit him every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at Miss Stanwyck's residence.

"I won everything I asked for," Fay commented after the bitter court fight. "I merely wanted to see Dion, and I haven't been able to do so."

There were certain stipulations in the court order.

Fay may not see the child if he has liquor on him, "externally or internally." Neither may he have a friend around who has been drinking. Dion is to be taken to Fay's home at 10 a. m. every other Saturday by his nurse, who is to remain with the child until 5 p. m. and then return him to Miss Stanwyck's home.

Miss Stanwyck and Fay have been quarrelling about Dion's custody several months. The court order ended four days of legal bickering highlighted by an affidavit filed by Miss Stanwyck's attorney, suggesting that Fay be subjected to a psychiatric examination.

Yesterday, however, Miss Stanwyck testified "I don't think he is insane."

Fay's lawyers tried to show Miss Stanwyck didn't want Fay around because she frequently entertained Robert Taylor, screen Adonis. The actress admitted Taylor visited her home often and played with Dion.

The court then intervened with the admonition: "I don't care how many times Mr. Taylor visits Miss Stanwyck. That is their personal life and has no place in this proceeding."

REGULAR GRAND JURY CONVENES

Charges Against 14 Come Up at First Session of Year Tomorrow.

Charges against 13 men and one woman will be heard by the Richland county grand jury which convenes at 9 a. m. Thursday for the first session in the January term of court, County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott said today.

About 35 witnesses will be subpoenaed to testify before the jury during the two days it will be in session, the prosecutor indicated.

In addition to the 14 cases under the present court term, the jury probably will consider grand larceny charges against William Snook and Russell Sprunger, whose cases were continued from the last term.

The 16 prospective cases on the court docket involve 10 offenses, with the lone woman in the group, Mrs. Lela Winbigler, charged with assault and battery growing out of an alleged attack on her husband with a stove poker.

Eleven of the 14 persons against whom charges will be heard by the jury are held in the county jail. Three — Mrs. Winbigler, James Jones, jr., colored, and Louis Bence —are free under bond.

The cases to come before the jury are against:

Marvin Ray Lintz, selling mortgaged property; Raymond Stanton, grand larceny; Ralph Bunting, non-support; Arthur Aegerter, embezzlement; James McGhee, carrying concealed weapons; Glenn Lett, robbery; Mrs. Lela Winbigler, assault and battery; M. C. Clark, and Edward Kahill, forgery; Sam Wilson and Louis Bence, statutory offenses; Conrad Sheetz, non-support; George Williams, robbery; and James Jones, jr., shooting with intent to wound.

WIDOW, 67, DIES

Mrs. Abbie Schlegel Had Been Resident of City 22 Years.

Mrs. Abbie Della Schlegel, 67, of 40 Prescott street, widow of John Schlegel, died early today in General hospital following a brief illness. Born in Mt. Vernon Aug. 13, 1870, Mrs. Schlegel had been a resident of Mansfield for 22 years.

Mrs. Schlegel is survived by a daughter, Esther and four sons, Paul, Raymond, Bert and Edward, all of Mansfield, and three grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Geiger funeral home where services will be held at 10:30 a. m. Friday in charge of Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church. Burial will be in the Mt. Vernon cemetery.

ITALIAN TRADE PARLEYS OFF

U. S. Refuses To Recognize Ethiopian Conquest.

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Negotiations for a trade treaty between Italy and the United States have been suspended, it was learned today, because of Italian insistence that Secretary Hull admit King Victor Emmanuel's right to the title of emperor of Ethiopia.

Hull refused to use the latter designation in the trade document. Informed persons said Premier Mussolini turned down a suggestion that a paragraph be inserted to make it plain that the pact was not to be construed as any form of American recognition of Italy's Ethiopian empire.

State department trade officials said they were seeking some means of ending the stalemate.

FINANCE HEAD WON'T PAY FOR WITNESS COSTS

Committee Claims Rejection Attempt to Halt Probe of State Departments.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The Ohio Senate Graft Investigation committee fought for recognition as a legally-constituted inquisitorial body today after being subjected to what Chairman J. Ralph Seidner termed "another attempt on the part of the state administration to sabotage this investigation."

The committee vigorously opposed the refusal of Finance Director M. Ray Allison to release vouchers made out by the committee for witness fees. None of the vouchers given witnesses have been released to the state auditor for payment, the committee learned.

Probes Vouchers.

Allison said he was withholding payment temporarily.

"I am inquiring into the basis upon which the vouchers were issued," he said. "Inasmuch as the legality of the committee has been subjected to question, the vouchers are being temporarily held up. I am considering asking the attorney general for an option as to the legality of the committee."

Committee members contended that Alison recognized the committee's official status when he recently asked it to investigate the possibility that Sen. H. D. Byrne, D., Portage county, was holding two state positions contrary to law. Sen. Byrne also is on the Kent State university faculty. The committee replied that school teachers do not come under this prohibition.

The senate committee questioned Francis W. Poulson, state democratic chairman, briefly yesterday, obtaining the explanation that $4,160 found on his person after an automobile accident near Northfield, O., in 1935 was given to him to help finance expenses of the state democratic committee.

Poulson testified that the money was not reported to the secretary of state as a campaign contribution because it was not for campaign use. The money was in 41 one hundred dollar bills and three twenty dollar bills.

Poulson said he could not remember who gave him the money but that it came from several Cleveland persons.

MEETING SET

Hospital Board Session to Be Held Jan. 28.

The annual meeting of the Mansfield General hospital board of directors will be held Wednesday evening, Jan. 28, in the hospital assembly rooms.

Officers and trustees to serve during the year will be elected, and a vacancy on the board, caused by the death of Miss Mary Scior, board secretary, will be filled. Reports of the board and of Dr. A. O. Fonkalsrud, superintendent, will be given.

The meeting will be a combination of the January and annual board meetings.

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

A Relief Recommendation.

IF RELIEF of the unemployed is the greatest single problem in the country today—and not many dispute that it is—then the lack of concern about the way it is being administered is an indictment not only of the congress but of the people. Because it is clear in every state that the complicated and overlapping system which has been fastened upon us is ruinously expensive and terrifically inefficient.

* * *

THERE is not an intelligent and informed man in congress, or in the administration either, who does not know that this vital and essential job of caring for the distressed unemployed can be better done at a greatly reduced cost. Why then, with the national finances in really critical shape and the unemployed load greatly increased by the depression, is there not at this session of congress an effort either upon the part of the administration or upon the part of congress to get the whole business of relief upon a sounder as well as a cheaper basis?

* * *

SO FAR as the administration is concerned, the reason is because the president is so strongly committed to the present WPA system as the best that it would seem stultification for him to admit that there is a better. He has so vehemently denounced as lacking in concern for "human rights" those who suggested another method that it might make him appear foolish now to adopt their suggestion. And that is a thing he refuses to contemplate. So far as congress is concerned the reason lies not in any conviction either as to the wisdom or virtue of the existing scheme, but partly to the feebleness of the leadership in congress and partly to the obvious futility of trying to make a change to which the administration is opposed.

* * *

THUS, between an obdurate president, unwilling to retreat from a mistake, and a futile congress, the country is chained to a scheme of relief vastly more costly than any other and recognized as inefficient. In his recent message, Mr. Roosevelt proposed a billion dollars as a tentative figure for relief during the next fiscal year. It is a deceptive figure, there being every reason to believe that WPA costs will run even larger the coming year than they have done in the current year, in which the total will be approximately two billion. That the mayors' lobby will force a larger appropriation is as well known in the White House as it is in the capitol. Nor is there any doubt that there will be, as there regularly has been, a deficiency appropriation at the end of the year to take care of the situation.

* * *

IN HIS message the president makes clear his determination to provide "work relief" rather than "direct relief" on a cash basis. He reiterated his opposition to any change that would "substitute a dole in place of useful work." Yet, as the New York Times points out, to a very large extent the "dole," which he dislikes, has already been substituted for the "useful work," which he prefers, under his own system. The fact is that the WPA "never has achieved, never could have achieved its objective and is probably farther away than ever from its objective right now. The obvious reason is because it is utterly impossible to provide enough money to give useful work to the employables without completely bankrupting the country. Neither one billion nor two billion will do it, as every impartial investigator will affirm.

* * *

IT IS impossible that the president should not realize this and it does seem that under the circumstances the recent recommendations on this subject of the Community Mobilization for Human Needs should receive at least some consideration in Washington. This is the most experienced and best equipped of all private relief groups. It knows more about the relief problem than any other and its word should carry more weight. What it urges now is a return of the relief burden to the states, with the federal government making grants of funds based upon the willingness of the states to provide their prescribed proportion and to maintain satisfactory standards of administration.

* * *

BUT THE states and the local committees would spend the money, deciding how much should go for work relief and how much for direct relief, determine who are the employables and who unemployable. In brief, the whole relief business would be integrated. The federal $1,000,000,000 could be made to go much farther and do more good. Relief could be taken out of national politics and put in the hands of local authorities upon whom local sentiment could be effectively focused. It does seem that the president might accept these recommendations without "stultification." And it does seem that congress, pressed on the one side by the need for economy and on the other by the necessity for relief, would welcome a plan that would enable it to meet the demands for both.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—John Carradine, the lean and slimy villain of many pictures these past two years, is going to shock those fans who love to hate him.

In "Benefits Forgot" Carradine is seen as the traditionally kindly and beneficent Abraham Lincoln,—and all because Clarence Brown saw him at lunch.

This director is a confirmed lunch-time caster of his pictures. More than a few players, calmly eating in the studio commissary, have won or lost important roles because Clarence Brown's roving eyes studied them there.

"I can see the actors there as their natural selves," he says, "and that's the only way to judge what sort of performance may be in them."

* * *

Observing Carradine's mannerisms, at the luncheon table, Brown decided that here was his Lincoln. It was as simple as that. But, he elaborates:

"There are two kinds of casting, traditional and revolutionary. Hollywood usually clings to the traditional. For instance, John Miljan is invariably cast as a villain. I cast him in a sympathetic role because, after all, if a man can act a good villain he can act anything else equally well."

And he feels the same way about stories. This "Benefits Forgot," tale of pioneer days in Ohio, he purchased personally 20 years ago. At that time, current standards of what constituted film entertainment did not inspire other than his own faith in the yarn. But he was content to wait—on the theory that a good story is a good story and therefore can be filmed successfully.

* * *

Familiar with death in all its forms—for the movies—Ricardo Cortez is looking toward life as a director.

In half the 260 pictures Cortez has made in his 16 years before the camera, he has played the villain, and in nearly as many films he has met violent death. The hangman's noose, the electric chair are but routine tools of his trade, varied occasionally by such original finishes as a dunking in acid.

Weakens Madison

Suspension Keeps Four Players Out of Lineup as Rams Bow to Iberia.

WEAKENED by the suspension of four players for class attendance violations, Madison high school courtiers dropped a one-point decision to Iberia, a team they handily whipped several weeks ago, on the Rams' hardwood last night.

The indefinite suspensions inflicted by school authorities involved Bill Moritz, Bill Wilkins, Mel Harner and Joe Miller, captain of the 1938 football team, all members of the first-string varsity.

Suspensions Indefinite.

Whether the suspensions will be lifted this week to permit the offenders to play Friday night in the Lexington game could not be learned today.

The loss of these valuable members of the squad weakened the Rams materially, but they put up a gallant fight despite the handicap.

Madison jumped into a 6 to 2 lead in the first period, but Coach Red Roberts' Iberians put on a rally in the second quarter that enabled them to overtake the Rams at the intermission, leading 10 to 9.

The third quarter developed into a nip-and-tuck battle, the period ending 14-all. Iberia then went out in the final frame to edge Coach Al Fendrick's men by a point.

Set Scoring Pace.

Doug De Nero, one of the only two regulars in the lineup, and Bob Wilkins led the Madison scoring with six points apiece. Erickson topped Iberia with the same number.

Madison annexed a 16 to 6 victory over the visitors in the prelim game.

It's Tony

A sort, pudgy Orange, N. J., bartender, who has a hare speaking acquaintance with Marquis of Queensbury etiquette, is boisterously yelping for a shot at the heavyweight boxing championship. He's a roly-poly Italian, Tony Galento, a saloon-keeper who brazenly admits he's the bar's best patron.

STRATEGIST

A lusty, salty scrapper who thoroughly enjoys tossing leather, Tony violently objects to any form of conditioning. He's always in "shape," with rolls of fat around the waistline of his 218-pound frame. His strategy is to open with a buffalo rush and keep flailing those club-like arms.

WORRIER

He has little respect for most of his opponents, guzzling beer and puffing stogies right up to the bell for some fights. Latins can be extremely violent and Galento has the suspicion other heavyweights are afraid of him.

SANDMAN

They call him the Jersey Night Stick, for he puts 'em to sleep for the evening. He tackles Harry Thomas in New York Feb. 4. A promoter offered Joe Louis $100,000 to tackle Tony. Galento regards other heavies as bums and modestly admits he can lick them all.

Big Year For Pinmen

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

BOWLING'S hall of fame is becoming cluttered with the names of Mansfield pin pounders.

Three 300 games in less than six weeks have been rolled in sanctioned competition on Mike Meder's polished drives over at the Recreation, and there is a suspicion that the epidemic started by Sonny Meder is not over yet.

Until the Meder boy wrecked the board with his perfect game the day before Christmas, Mansfield league bowling records did not include a single 300 tilt.

As it was the first 300 scored in the history of league bowling in the city, it created quite a stir as the game has been a regular part of the Mansfield's winter sports program for more years than even the old-timers can remember.

But the spotlight shifted swiftly. It turned its glare to Ralph Schad last week, and his place under the ares was short lived. Art Hilborn gained the coveted spot this week.

The reason for the growth of 300 games in a city where none grew before cannot be explained. No changes have made to the alleys, and the pins are the same as always used in this city.

It just seems that this is Mansfield's big year in bowling, and nothing that occurs on the slick drives from now on will surprise the natives.

In fact, we believe they're expecting a flock of other records to fall by the wayside before the 1937-38 season becomes history.

* * *

FOR each 300 game bowled in league competition, a pin with the autographs of the bowler and witnesses is placed on a mantel at the Meder alleys. It is suggested that as soon as 10 are collected that they be placed in competition in a tournament involving all of the bowlers who have rolled perfect games. It's just an idea, you understand.

* * *

John Graf and Roy Vaughn, Commercial B league officers, are accorded a nice piece of recognition in a recent issue of the A. B. C. journal for the fine schedule book which they publish each year. It is said to be one of the most complete books published by a league in the country. Secretaries of other leagues in various sections of the country have requested copies of the booklet, which they plan to copy next season.

* * *

THE youngest Class A team ever to represent this city in a regular match has been assembled to represent the Moose lodge in a series in Steubenville Saturday night. The personnel of the team includes Sonny and Babe Meder, Everett Schaus, Harold Lemunyon and Freddy Willis, and not one of the bowlers is over 25. The bowlers sport a team average of nearly 1,600.

Hallabrin Stars In 34-25 Victory

Scores 11 Points as Tygers Turn Back Ashland In Hard Game.

By OSCAR RUHL
News-Journal Sports Editor

JOHNNY HALLABRIN, who virtually dominated the headlines with his numerous touchdown dashes on the gridiron last fall, came into his own as a court cavorter last night.

Hallabrin didn't threaten any of the scoring records set by Angelo Luisetti, Chuck Chuckovits or Nick Frascella, but he was a particular menace to Ashland high school basketeers last night as he led the Tygers to a 34 to 25 triumph over the visitors on the home planks.

Tallies 11 Points.

In addition to playing his usual good game on the ball handling end of the offense, the stocky Hallabrin broke out into a scoring spree for the first time this season to lead the Mansfield high school machine with 11 points.

Mansfield encountered plenty of trouble in the A's. The score was knotted five times in the first half, and once in the third period before the Tygers gained a lead on which they rode to their fifth victory in seven games before the smallest crowd of the season.

It was Hallabrin who was in there pitching baskets last night when the Tygers needed them.

With the score tied 26-all late in the third period, Hallabrin dented the mesh with a pair of buckets to put Coach Russ Murphy's men out in front.

And in the fourth chapter when the former N. C. O. conference rival crawled within two points of tying the score, Hallabrin again contributed a pair of baskets to protect the Mansfield advantage.

Plays Vital Role.

Hallabrin was not the only Tyger to distinguish himself, however. Pint-sized Tommy Scott played a vital role in the triumph. He contributed 10 points, and his last two baskets cinched the decision for the Tygers late in the game. Jack Lyons, Hallabrin's running mate at the guards, also turned in a fine performance.

Although the Men of Murphy tallied all of their baskets except a couple on short shots, they found the Ashland defense the trickiest of any they have faced this season.

Much of their trouble in breaking through the invaders' defense might be blamed on the Mansfield passing, which was slower than usual, but it can't be denied that the Ashland boys provided a lot more opposition than expected.

Led by Edgar Snook, one of the finest players seen on the Mansfield court this season, the Ashland club, with three freshmen in the starting lineup, pressed the Tygers all the way.

Neither team was able to gain an advantage in the first period, the score being 6-all at the bell. It was also nip-and-tuck in the second quarter, with a short bucket by Scott breaking a tie to give Mansfield a 16-14 edge at the half.

Tied Once in Third.

Mansfield never trailed once in the second half, but Coach John Longley's aggressive cage laborers tied it up 20-all in the third frame before Hallabrin broke loose with his damaging baskets.

Snook tallied 11 points for Ashland, which converted seven of 10 attempts from the charity line.

The start of the game was delayed several minutes while the theft of Ashland equipment from the locker room was investigated. The culprits snatched equipment valued at $30.

Mansfield also won the preliminary games. The Tyger reserves took the visiting Jay Vees into camp by a 45 to 27 margin after leading 28 to 12 at the half. Rudolph, with 14 points; Herpich, 13, and Harmony, 11, led the winners.

The No. 2 reserve quintet edged a First Lutheran church team, 17 to 13, in the first preliminary.

The undefeated First Lutherans continued their march toward the Church Class B basketball league championship last night by walloping South Main, 47 to 16, on the Y. M. C. A. court. It was the pace setters' seventh consecutive victory.

Led by Rayburn, the Park Avenue Baptist combine remained only a game behind First Lutheran, smothering First Presbyterian, 42 to 10, in another tilt. On the balance of the carnival, First M. E. chalked up their first victory of the season by downing the B-Nai Jacob club, 48 to 10. St. John's eked out a thrilling 14 to 13 decision over the Mayflower club and First Christian edged Central M. E., 30 to 28.

Rayburn split the net with 27 points as the Baptists downed the First Presbyterians with ease. Taking a commanding lead in the opening period, the winners held their opponents scoreless in the second stanza to take a 20 to 8 lead at the half.

STUDENT PRINCES WIN

Wallop Ashland In Ohio Conference Tilt.

ASHLAND—Heidelberg college defeated Ashland, 45 to 30, in an Ohio conference tilt here last night. The Student Princes hopped into the lead in the opening minutes and encountered little trouble. The invaders led, 20 to 13, at the half.

NEW YORK—Maxie Berger, 140, Montreal, and Tommy Rawson, 137, Boston, drew, (8).

Six-Day Whiz to Nowhere Wins New Favor With Sports Addicts

By WALTER SEIFERT

ROUND and 'round they go, those lithesome six-day bicycle men, whirling rhythmically over the steep-banked oval in Cleveland's new sports arena.

Inches separate their wheels as they pedal along in single file, mechanically pumping their pistonlike legs at a monotonous pace.

Except for the purr of spinning spokes and the babble of somnolent spectators, everything is proceeding in a calm, peaceful manner.

In fact, it is becoming increasingly obvious—to uninitiated newcomers—that six-day bike races are exceedingly dull.

But Look! He's Shooting!

Suddenly the line breaks. One of the riders is coming up fast. He tries to leave the pack, but the others won't let him. And, to the American public's annual delight: THE JAM IS ON!

Faster and faster they fly. In flaming, frenzied action, human comets streak the boards at 50 miles an hour. Riding three or four abreast, they chase the bold bandit who dared to break. Then, just as they catch him—

While men roar and women shriek, three riders point for an opening near the inside rail. Three bikes crash with a sickening thud. Three young men lie motionless on the track, their legs bloody and their ribs cracked.

A gong clangs, doctors appear, the racers are patched up, and soon they're off again, resuming the caterpillar line they formed before the jam began.

The spectators, almost exhausted by the ordeal, sink back into their chairs. Down on the track a rider swipes a new top hat and sets the crowd to laughter. Another munches a sandwich, his feet crossed on the handlebars as he coasts for an entire lap.

That, in short, is the foreground of six-day bike racing a la 1937.

Background of the Bikes.

The background, as provided by George Harvey, maestro of the current spectacle sums it up to this:

"Two-man bicycle racing began in the U. S. in the old Madison Square Garden, New York, in 1898. . . . It is the fastest, most dangerous of indoor sports. . . . Europeans are great bike-race enthusiasts, having indoor, outdoor and motorpaced contests each year.

"Racers sleep in relays in the morning, when there is a 'gentleman's agreement' not to steal a lap. Winners are determined by mileage and points scored during jams. The riders eat ravenously during a race, and some actually gain weight.

"Ordinary riders, paid by the day, clear about $500 per race. Such stars as Torchy Peden, Piet Van Kempen, Jules Audy, Heinz Vopel, Gustav Kilian and Henri Le Page may make as much as $35,000 a year.

Yes, It's On The Square.

"Are the races on the level? Judge for yourself! Kilian and Vopel, both Germans, have won 17 of the past 19 held in this country. No crooked box office would stand for that!".

ICE CARNIVAL WINNERS WILL RECEIVE MEDALS

MEDALS will be awarded for the first three places in the Senior high school ice carnival to be sponsored by the "M" association at North Lake park Saturday afternoon.

The awards will be presented to the winners in the girls' events as well as the boys. Harry Mehock, assistant athletic director, who has been named director of the carnival, stated.

Judging from present indications, a large number of students will compete in the various events which have been arranged in the competition.

Sprint and distance races as well as figure skating events will be on the program.

Mehock said that the course will be laid out so that spectators may be able to see the events from the banks of the lakeside.

There will be no charge for the entry of contestants nor for spectators, according to Mehock.

It is planned to start the carnival promptly at 2:30 p. m. with the preliminary at 10:30 a. m. Only unsuitable weather conditions will cause a postponement, Mehock said.

Vines Is Winner

Defeats Perry In Opening Tour Match In 3-Hour Battle on Coast.

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines of America defeated Fred Perry of Great Britain in a three-hour battle here last night opening their transcontinental professional tennis tour. The score: 4-6, 13-11, 8-10, 6-2, 6-3.

A throng of 7,000 spectators, with Marlene Dietrich, Dolores Del Rio, Carole Lombard, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, sr., Charles Boyer and his wife, Rudy Vallee and a host of others decorating boxes, was more than the promotors anticipated. The marathon match lasted until early today.

Vines apparently was the more popular with the crowd, but the Englishman time and again drew rounds of applause by brilliant shots.

BUYERS SWITCH TO UTILITIES IN MIXED MART

Forsake Heavy Industry Shares as Power Group Advances In Opening.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Utility shares provided the bright spot in an otherwise indecisive stock market today.

Issues of this group worked fractionally higher in an active opening, motivated largely by Wall Stret's hopes the administration would approve a program by which the government would avoid duplication of private power lines and would sell power to companies.

There was some evidence of switching from the heavy industry shares, so popular in recent rallies, to the utilities. Major commodities were mixed. Bonds were uneven.

Studied in board rooms during the day was the overnight report from Washington that five leading industrialists, after a conference with President Roosevelt, had forecast closer co-operation between government and business in overcoming the business recession.

About as expected was the statement of "iron age" that, while steel companies "expect business to improve somewhat over the present low volume, no rapid acceleration in demand over the next month or two is indicated."

Disappointing were the figures of the Edison Electric Institute showing electric power output for the week ended Jan. 8 had advanced less than seasonally expected.

LEGAL NOTICE

Helen E. Moffett, Ann Bissman, a minor of the age of 15 years, residing with her mother, Helen E. Moffet, Russel P. Bissman, jr., a minor of the age of 18 years, residing with his mother, Helen E. Moffee and all of said parties residing at No. 2357 Ashland Avenue, Evanston, Ill., will take notice that on the 28th day of December, 1937, Frank Bissman, guardian of the estate of Russel P. Bissman, filed his certain petition in the Probate Court of Richland County, Ohio, and numbered on the docket of said court as cause No. 5585 in which said cause the said Frank Bissman as guardian made the above named persons parties defendant.

That in said petition said plaintiff represented that he was the duly appointed, qualified and acting guardian of Russel P. Bissman, That the said Ann Bissman and Russel P. Bissman, jr. minors, are the children of the said Russel P. Bissman. That the said Helen E. Moffet was the former wife of the said Russel P. Bissman.

Said parties will take further notice that in said petition the plaintiff therein represented that the said Russel P. Bissman was entitled to certain distribution of the corpus of a trust fund held by the Mansfield Savings Trust National Bank as trustees under the terms of the Last Will and Testament of Benjamin F. Bissman, deceased.

Said corpus of said trust to be paid in part to the said Russel P. Bissman when he arrived at the age of 40 years and in part to be paid to the said Russel P. Bissman when he arrived at the age of 50 years.

That the income from said trust estate was to be paid to the said Russel P. Bissman quarterly after making certain payments to the said Helen E. Moffet as provided in a certain agreement of separation all as set forth in said petition.

Said petition further represents that it is necessary to pledge, hypothecate and encumber the interest of the said Russel P. Bissman in and to said trust fund for the purpose of providing for the support of plaintiff's said ward. The prayer of said petition is for a declaratory judgment determing the rights, interests and privileges of plaintiff, his said ward, and of the several parties in and to said trust fund held by the Mansfield Savings Trust National Bank and in and to the distribution to be made of the corpus of said trust fund both when said ward arrives at the age of 40 years and when he arrives at the age of 50 years. Also as to the rights, privileges, and benefits of all of the income arising from said Trust fund so held by said trustee and the rights, and privileges of plaintiff to pledge, encumber and / or hypothecate any and all the rights, privileges and benefits of said ward as to both principal, interest and income for the purpose of providing for the care, maintainence and support either past, present or future of said ward.

Said defendants will take further notice that said petition will be for hearing in said court on and after the 12th day of March, 1938.

TAKE UP CO-OP MOVEMENT AT MEETING HERE

Church and Farm Leaders to Address Conferences at Central M. E. Church.

The first in a series of one-day conferences throughout Ohio on the co-operative movement, will be held in Mansfield, Monday, Feb. 28, at the Central Methodist church.

The general theme of the gathering will be, "The Church, and the Co-operative Movement," and will be a study of co-operative enterprises sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches.

E. R. Bowen, executive secretary of the Co-operative League of America, and Murray D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau, will be the principal speakers.

Includes 5 Counties.

The conference here will be open to residents of Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Morrow and Seneca counties. Similar meetings will be held the same week in Medina, Warren, Carrollton, and Coshocton. The one-day local conferences will supplement a general one-day seminar on co-operatives to be held at Columbus following the close of the Ohio Pastors convention, Feb. 3.

Arrangements for the conference were made at a meeting of interested local leaders with Rev. W. H. Thompson of Columbus, field secretary of the Ohio Council of Churches.

Adult education leaders, business men, and other laymen, as well as pastors will be invited to attend the meetings. Leaders of the movement said that with a growing proportion of the people realizing that the basis of most of the social problems is an economic one, a large number of persons from all walks of like are turning to the co-operative movement.

Sessions of the conference are scheduled for 10 a. m., and 1:30 and 7:30 p. m.

ASKED TO HELP

Police Requested to Keep Watch For Missing Farm Agent.

Mansfield police today were asked by the Ohio county extension agents association to assist in the search for one of its members who has been missing since Dec. 15.

O. D. Sands, president of the organization, in a letter to Police Chief Meade K. Bates, said that James F. Johnson, Paulding county agricultural agent for the past eight years, had left his office at 8:15 a. m. Dec. 15 to attend a conference in Bowling Green and had not been seen since. He was driving a black sedan with license number 299-ZU.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

CLAIM FREIGHT BOOST WOULD HELP 150,000

Railroads Would Provide More Jobs If Revenues Climb, Executive Declares.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The head of the Association of American Railroads estimated today that this country's railroads could put 150,000 men to work if railroad revenues climb back to normal.

The railroad executive, J. J. Pelley, president of the association, added a freight rate increase would bring an immediate increase in employment.

If the Interstate Commerce commission grants requested rate increases the railroads can resume buying at once, the executive testified before the senate unemployment committee.

"It would put us in a position to open our purchasing agency doors again," Pelley said. "No railroad is buying anything now."

He predicted an increase in railroad employment would bring a comparable gain in other industries.

Would Return '30 Level.

Pelley asserted that the rate increase asked by the railroads would restore their charges to about the 1930 level. He said other carriers, including the trucking and shipping industries, also wanted to increase their rates.

The association executive told the committee he looked for no improvement in railroad employment in January, that it "may be a little worse."

The witness said the total number of railroad employes had declined from 1,660,000 in 1929 to about 900,000 on Jan. 1 of this year.

Prospects of inducing new capital to invest in the railroad field are "not bright," Pelley testified. He said, however, that some roads still were able to obtain needed financing.

"It's earnings that we need, however," Pelley said.

Pelley said a decline of business in the third quarter of 1937 after nine months of good business had reduced traffic to "very low levels" and net earnings even more.

"If traffic and revenues return to more nearly normal levels," he declared, "annual equipment programs could easily contemplate the installation of 2,000 new locomotives and 100,000 new freight cars per year. In 1937 railways installed less than 500 new locomotives and 75,000 new freight cars."

RITES THURSDAY

NEW LONDON—Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Thursday at the Ruggles Federated church for Mrs. Lydia Jane Tindale, 79, who died Tuesday at her home in Ruggles township, Ashland county. Rev. J. H. Norris will officiate and burial will be in the Ruggles cemetery.

Surviving Mrs. Tindale are her husband, John R. Tindale; two daughter, Mrs. Alice Kirkpatrick of New London, and Miss Mae Tindale, at home, two sons, Beach and William of Shelby, and a number of grandchildren.

FOOD, BUT NO APPETITE NOW

N. Y. Baby Starves, So Supplies Pour in For Indigent Family.

NEW YORK—(AP)—For the first time in weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Danielson and their two children had enough to eat—but they had no appetite.

Monday Mrs. Danielson applied at a relief bureau for aid. When she returned home their three months old daughter Barbara was dead—from malnutrition, the assistant medical examiner said.

Tuesday the food arrived—by the basketfull.

Today police were raising funds to bury Barbara.

HOPE FADES FOR LOST CLIPPER

Alarm Grows For 7 Aboard Flying Boat; Explosion In Pacific Feared.

near the islands to join the search and possibly a plea be sent to Honolulu for the aid of destroyers.

Absence of word by radio was regarded as forboding. The Clipper was equipped with kites from which an aerial could be flown to permit her radio to send if she landed on water and transmission was blocked by island mountain peaks.

The Clipper had taken off for Aukland, New Zealand, but scarcely two hours out discovered a leaky oil line and turned back.

It was just three minutes out of Tutuila when the message was received that the fuel load was being dumped. Fully loaded the plane weighs approximately 43,000 pounds, making it exceptionally difficult to land.

In San Francisco Pan American Airways officials scouted the theory that the gasoline caught fire. Officials said each motor was separate and protected by an automatic fire extinguisher. The dumping valves were situated under the huge metal wings, and the exhaust pipes ran over them, a precaution taken in construction to avert that very possibility.

The disappearance was the first mishap of any of the Pan American Clippers which have been flying the Pacific, from California to Manila and Hong Kong, more than two years. Never before was one even forced down.

Two hopeful reports, both emanating from Apia, British Samoa, failed of substantiation. One was that the Clipper landed in Apia harbor. The report was that a search plane had found the Clipper and a boat put out from Pago Pago to the rescue.

The story the plane was down and safe was persistent. A report was received in Dunedin, New Zealand, that the plane was sighted afloat 74 miles west of Apia. Observers pointed out this might have resulted from a misconstruction of the first unconfirmed report the Clipper was down at Apia, which is 74 miles west of Pago Pago.

Disappearance of the craft cast a pall over Pago Pago, which was on the fringe of the navy's widespread hunt last summer for Amelia Earhart, lost on a round-the-world flight.

BOOSTS CITY'S OPERATING FUND

Ordinance Calls for Increase of $29,000; Council Acts on Measure Friday.

comes on Monday and unless an appropriation measure has been passed before that time, city employes will have to go payless.

The committee sharply pared the allocations for various departments from the maximum amounts of money Kelley had estimated might be available for city operations during the year.

Kelley's total estimate was $649,586 for all purposes except bond retirement. The committee in making allocations distributed only $562,129.

Bond retirement this year will cost $134,444, which is almost $10,000 under the $143,231 spent for that purpose last year.

Where Kelley has estimated $157,000 available for waterworks department operation from department revenue, the committee trimmed the allocation to $125,240 This is some $8,200 under what was actually spent in 1937 The committee out a total of $13,781 from three classifications—extensions, equipment and engineering service, such as well tests. The latter item, $4,852 was eliminated entirely The allocation for extensions was cut $6,800 and that for equipment was trimmed $2,129

There were increases in some water department funds, notably in office salaries and wages, which will go up approximately $1,800, in power costs, estimated to be nearly $3,000 higher, and in wages for laborers

Fire Fund Up $7,500.

One of the major increases in the general fund was in the amount alloted to the fire department. A total of $69,555 is set up in the bill for the department, an increase of $7,531 over the 1937 figure.

Of this amount, $4,000 was set up for a new No. 2 fire station, one of the things Hunter told council was needed when he outlined his program at the first council meeting of the year. Last year, bonds in the sum of $3,900 were issued for this purpose, but never used when it was found that the cost of the building would be greater than anticipated. That money now will be placed with the $4,000 allocated this year No provision was made for additional equipment or men.

The police department is allocated $57,670 for 1938, an increase of $2,766 over 1937. Most of that will go for salaries, as the result of the restoration of pay cuts. The sum of $1,800 is provided for new motor equipment, about the same amount that was alloted for that purpose last year. This is slated to be used for replacing police cruisers.

In the service director's department, $800 is set up for a new department automobile.

Cuts Pay For Medical Staff.

The measure also reduced the city's payments to doctors for the care of indigent patients. The sum of $4,000 is alloted for this purpose in 1938. In 1937, $5,000 was allowed.

The health department allotment was left about the same as last year.

The committee also appropriated $3,750 for recreation supervision, drawing on a balance in funds available from a bond issue voted a number of years ago.

Although Kelley had estimated that $113,496 would be the greatest amount available for street cleaning and traffic lights, and for street repairs, the committee made drastic reductions from figures when it set up appropriations from those funds

Kelley's estimate, which he said was an "outside" one set a figure of $113,496 from gasoline tax and automobile registrations The committee, however, allocated only $78,800. A total of $83,165 was spent for that work last year.

The budget of the sanitary sewer department, expected to be defrayed from sanitary sewer rentals, which went into effect last year, was set at $34,665 Last year it produced $27,738, though it was in operation only nine months. The garbage department was allocated $33,785 as compared with $31,559 last year.

LEGAL NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas.

State of Ohio, County of Richland

Allen B Martin, plaintiff, vs. Roeliff B Martin et al, defendants Harry Weston, a minor, and Mrs H C O'Dell his guardian and next friend, whose last known place of residence was 6917 So Wabash St, Chicago, Ill, and Herbert Wing and Harry Wing, minors and the Supt of the Christian Children's Home, their next friend, whose last known place of residence was 4043 Lake Park Ave, Chicago, Ill, will take notice that Allen B. Martin filed his Amended Petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Richland County, Ohio, on the 30th, day of September, 1937, naming said minor parties defendant in said action and alleging that plaintiff and said defendants are devisees, legatees, and heirs at law of William B. Martin, deceased, who died on the 19th, day of January, 1937, leaving a paper writing purporting to be a last will and testament, which has been duly admitted to probate, that said paper writing is not the last will and testament of William B Martin, deceased

The prayer of the petition is that an issue be made up as to whether said paper writing is the last will and testament of William B. Martin, deceased, that the same be set aside and held for naught, and for such other and further relief as is just and equitable.

The defendants named above are required to answer on or before the 29th day of January, 1938.

CHAPTER XXIX

"What is she going to do about tomorrow?" Brenda repeated Karen's question. "From Lilyan's manner, I know that she and this young man are sincerely in love," Brenda continued. "But in England they said good-bye. She couldn't bear to hurt Philip. She couldn't disappoint her sick father who had his heart set on her marriage to Philip. Poor child. No wonder I found her crying!

"The young man, Walter Roxby, followed her to New York and between shopping and planning for her wedding, she's been seeing him. She saw him only this morning for the last time. I told her what a foolish girl she was. Then we went in to see her father and told him. He was shocked, of course. But they've been very close since her mother died and Owen was even angry she had let herself suffer so for his sake."

A new light had come to Karen's eyes. Her hopes . . . But what was she hoping for? If it were not Lilyan now, it would be some other girl later!

"They, they—they won't be married tomorrow!"

"I stayed and talked with Owen while Lilyan went to the church. She took Philip into the clergyman's study and told him. He was marvelous about it, she said, when she came home.

"Philip said, 'Anything you say, my dear. But please know that I was prepared to do everything in my power to make you happy'."

Brenda nodded her pale golden head. "A jilted man doesn't talk like that! But Philip didn't care! I was there when Lilyan phoned Walter Roxy and I don't see how he possibly got there in so short a time after she called. He's splendid. I just left him with Lilyan and Owen and they were all talking at the same time! They're going to be married in a few days and go to England."

She laughed. "Lilyan wasn't crying when I left her!"

But Karen was thinking of Philip—jilted. He had loved Lilyan. She knew that this must be hurting him deeply. "He isn't showing how much he's hurt. He's being a good sport about it. No one will ever know how much this hurt him."

"Is that all Philip said, Brenda?" She could not bear to think of Philip's being humbled.

"Yes. I haven't seen him. I came directly home from Lilyan's. But she told me that he was going back to California until the thing blows over. It will cause quite a stir, I'm sure."

She looked tenderly at Karen. "Dear, you musn't let him go to California! You must go to him at once and stop him!"

"How can I stop him?"

"The Philip Ashley who stopped in my dressing room that night the play opened in Baltimore wasn't the Philip Ashley I've known for 10 years. You had hurt him and he was running away from you. Karen, only a man who cares can be hurt.

"For weeks Lilyan has felt his coolness," Brenda went on. "I have an answer for that—you. For weeks, I think, Philip has been falling in love with you. I didn't realize it until today when everything came to light."

* * *

But Karen did not believe her. Brenda wanted her to be happy because she loved her. But Philip was going to California and it might be months before she saw him again.

"Karen, in Philip's play you put up a magnificent fight for the man you love. Can't you do it in your own life?"

"You can't offer love that isn't wanted, Brenda."

"How do you know it isn't? Do we know what has been in his mind? It's a chance and I want you to take that chance. If he turns you down, if he treats you as he has always treated you—with amusement, as if you were a child—at least you tried! You'll have no regrets. But you will have regrets if you let him leave you now."

Go to Philip now? What would she say to him? Oh, but how good it would be no longer to guard her heart and deny her love!

"Karen, Philip should come to you but he thinks you dislike him. I don't know that he loves you but I think he does. The belief gets stronger the more I think of it. Won't you go? You'll have to hurry. He's going to leave tonight. He thinks it will be less embarrassing for all concerned if he leaves town. He isn't running out. He's bowing out gracefully."

* * *

Karen felt that she could not move. In ten minutes, if she hurried, she could be with him.

But what would she say to him? She could not say simply, "Philip, I love you. Do you or do you not love me?"

Brenda laughed. "Don't stand there, darling. Hurry! Suppose you miss him! And don't forget, no matter what happens, that at eight-thirty tonight you're not Karen Mallare. You're the girl in Philip's play."

She went to her and put her arms around her and kissed her hot forehead. "All the way to him pray that I'm right. You love him so much."

And all that Karen could say was, "All the way to him I'll pray you're right!"

Running through the living room, she knocked over a vase of flowers. Mrs. Reid thrust her gray head out of her room and asked, "Good gracious, what's wrong?" But Karen did not stop.

In the hall she kept her finger on the elevator button and the elevator boy, when finally he came, glared angrily at her. In the apartment house lobby she collided with a dignified old lady and a dog on a leash and stumbled over the leash. Stammering apologies, she did not know whether to laugh or cry.

The doorman asked, "Taxi?"

"Yes, please." Breathlessly. (Oh, Philip, don't be gone! Don't let me lose you now!)

The cab came. She gave the driver Philip's address and added, "Hurry, please." But every traffic light seemed to be red. (The traffic light was red on Broadway that night in the rain, Philip. That night everything began. My life. My love. I've loved you ever since. Madly, as Brenda said once. What shall I say to you when I get there? I've got to keep you from going. But how? You'll think I've lost my mind when I rush in!)

* * *

Brenda went to the telephone and called Craig.

"Hello, darling," he said quite merrily. "Did my daughter tell you she spent the afternoon with me? It was swell. But I'm afraid it was swell only for me. Proud parent exhibiting beautiful. She's miserable about Philip."

She told him about Lilyan and Walter Roxby. Then, "I've just sent her to Philip. And I'm scared. If he receives her coldly or sends her away. . . ."

But his voice was deep and confident and still quite merry.

"He won't send her away. The poor young fool fell in love with her that night in Baltimore and didn't know what was the matter with him. I'll be right out to greet them when they come back together." he laughed. "Who'd have thought that Philip would be my son-in-law?"

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD
Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, oversize or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.
Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

SCHOOLS TO SPEND 2 HOURS ON TEMPERANCE PROBLEM FRIDAY

Mansfield and Richland county schools will join other schools in the state in the observance of "Temperance day" Friday, with each required to devote at least two hours to the study of the harmful effects of alcohol and the control of its use.

The observance was requested by E. N. Dietrich, state director of education, through letters mailed to city and county school heads yesterday by Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools and Boyd Robinson, county superintendent.

In his statement to schools, Dietrich said: "The repeal of the Eighteenth amendment has not solved the liquor problem. It has cleared the decks for a new approach, or a revival of the old approach of this difficult problem; namely, a general revival of temperance education in the public schools."

Dietrich's letter to superintendents, and principals contained suggestions for study topics and a list of books recommended for use in preparing programs for the statewide observance.

"It is not enough to limit our study of the liquor problem to a one-day program," he said. "It should be an all-year study on the part of both teacher and pupil. Young people are daily facing serious questions about drinking and they want facts."

GETS WPA FUND

County Allotted $4,265 For Lunches for Needy Pupils.

President Roosevelt today approved a WPA allocation for $4,265 to provide lunches for needy and undernourished pupils in Richland county rural schools, according to word from Congressman William A. Ashbrook at Washington.

The fund, one of several approved for the same purpose throughout the state, will be distributed through the county WPA offices on the basis of recommendations made by local superintendents to County Superintendent Boyd Robinson.

Allocations will provide for the employment of cooks at the schools and the purchase of food materials for hot lunches to be distributed free to needy pupils, Robinson said.

Other projects approved by the president will provide $19,635 for the improvement of Heise park at Galion and $4,218 for furnishing free home assistance in Ashland county.

TESTS EVIDENCE

Judge Finds 'Vicious' Dog's a Friendly One.

CLINTON, Ia.—(INS)—Arrested and brought to trial for keeping a vicious dog, August Byers invited the judge to his home to see the dog, which, he said, was as friendly as a dog could be.

The judge went.

The dog met him at the door and wagged his tail joyously. When the judge sat down, the dog jumped on his lap and started licking his face.

"Not guilty," said the judge.

F. B. I. AGENT GUEST OF TOURIST MEMBERS

James B. Fitzgerald Talks on Training, Activities of "G-Men" Before Study Club, Guests at Congregational Church.

MORE than two hundred members of the Tourist club and their guests yesterday heard Special Agent James B. Fitzgerald of the F. B. I., department of justice, tell how agents are trained, how they swing into action and several of the interesting "legends" of the department.

Fitzgerald, of the Cleveland division office, replaced W. S. Devereaux, who was scheduled to speak, but who was caled to Washington yesterday morning.

The meeting, held at First Congregational church, was open to the public. Preceeding the address there was a one o'clock luncheon at the Women's Club for Tourist members and a few guests.

Fitzgerald was introduced by Mrs. R. F. Miller, president of the club. He told first of the present rigid requirements for special agents, as introduced in 1934 by Director J. Edgar Hoover.

All of them must be college or university men; the present force of 625 agents is made up of 85 per cent attorneys, 12 per cent accountants, and three per cent are "old timers" who have been with the department for many years. They must be between the ages of 23 and 35, of high moral character, a perfect physique and with nothing in their background that could ever arise to embarass them or the department.

* * *

When they have met these requirements they must pass oral and written examinations and then go to school for a number of months. All special agents, or "G Men" must carry their badges and credentials, with their pictures at all times, so that if any individual questions their authority, they must display them, the speaker said. He added that the third item of equipment at all times is a book of railroad and steamship orders, which are sufficient to carry them to the ends of the earth and back.

One of his most interesting stories was that of the Oklahoma City oil man who was kidnaped and released after payment of $200,000. The department agents located his hideout, several hundred miles from his home and in another state by the fact that he remembered an afternoon air plane flew over the house every day at approximately the same time and that on the day before his release, it missed a flight. On this clue alone, agents located the city of the hideout, and through other small clues, such as a squeaking windlass, moss on a chicken roof, and the pattern of wall paper, the house itself was found and the kidnapers apprehended and convicted.

Fitzgerald paid a tribute to Police Chief Meade K. Bates of Mansfield, who was in the audience. He referred to Bates' training at the department's police academy in Washington last summer, and said: "Wherever we have one of our own trained men in a city, we feel that we have a special agent there, and you have such an agent in Mansfield."

Fitzgerald was a guest at the Tourist club luncheon. With him as guests were Chief Bates, Floyd Dent, Russell Gimbel and Sidney L. Palmer.

The tables were attractively centered with bowls of pale yellow chrysanthemum, yellow and pink roses, and pink snapdragons.

Mrs. S. D. Hoover and Mrs. W. L. Parkinson were hostesses for the luncheon. The program committee was Mrs. Elmer Post, Mrs. John Pease and Mrs. C. V. Gates.

The next regular meeting of the club will be Jan. 25, with Mrs. John Stout, Townview circle.

Dr. Rehder Talks At P. T. A. Meet

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, health commissioner, addressed members of the Prospect P. T. A. last night at the regular meeting at the school. He explained the examinations which are being carried on in the schools and stressed the necessity for preventive measures in communicable diseases.

Sigurd Jorgensen played several violin selections. Members of the committee in charge were Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong. During the business meeting routine matters were dispatched and appropriations for book shelves and music stands were made.

The next meeting will be Feb. 8 at which time the teachers from Hedges school will present a play, "How To Get the Men to P. T. A."

Bethany Circle Holds Luncheon, Regular Meet

Members of Bethany Circle of the First Presbyterian church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Carl O. Russell, 578 Coleman road, at a 1 o'clock luncheon yesterday. There were 48 members and two guests present. Guests of the circle were Mrs. Oliver Henkel and Mrs. James M. Hill.

Associate hostess for the affair were Mrs. W. J. Bishop, Mrs. Harvey Bailey, Mrs. Lowell Bourns, Mrs. Arthur L. Smith and Miss Ruth Malone. The next regular meeting of the Circle will be Feb. 8.

Miss West Talks On Y. W. Work at Newman Meeting

Members of the Newman school P. T. A. met last evening in the school auditorium. The regular business meeting, including treasurer's and secreetary's reports was held and the following lectures were planned: Dr. H. Odegard, Jan. 31, at the First Presbyterian church; and Dr. Arlict, Feb. 8, at St. John's church.

Mrs. Gordon Watson, who was in charge of the membership drive announced that the goal, 115 members, had been reached.

Announcement was made of the monthly meeting of the Men's club to be held Jan. 24 at the school.

The program consisted of musical selections presented by the pupils of the Kurtz studio, a talk on groups and activities of the Y. W. C. A. given by Miss Margaret West of the Y. W. C. A., and a round table discussion on "Objectives in Reading" conducted by E. W. Kissel. In the discussion the first three lower grades were represented by Mrs. Beatrice Secord and Miss Doris Mann; the upper three grades were represented by Miss Frances Gage and Mr. Kissel.

A three reel education film on "Iron Ore to Pig Iron" was shown following which refreshments were served concluding the meeting.

The next meeting will be Feb. 8, at 7:30 in the school auditorium.

A. A. U. W. Gives Mid-Year Affair

A "March of Time" bridge party and buffet supper was held last evening by the Mansfield Branch of the American Association of University Women at the Southern hotel. This was the annual mid-year party conducted by Miss Elizabeth Hainer, chairman of the social committee.

Those assisting Miss Hainer were Miss Alice Bowers, Miss Dorothy Stewart, Miss Evelyn Sonner, Mrs. Harold Baer, Mrs. R. J. Welsh, Mrs. R. D. Campbell, Mrs. Merritt Giles, Mrs. Paul Wilmore and Mrs. W. B. Ford.

Prizes at bridge were awarded to Miss Clara Patton, Mrs. L. L. Nichols, Miss Catherine Culp, Mrs. K. E. Buhr, Miss Leona Miles, Miss Edith Ross, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. R. H. McCaffrey, Miss Virginia Howard, and Miss Ruth Dunham.

Miss McLeod Discusses Mind at P. T. A. Meet

Miss Dora McLeod, primary supervisor of Mansfield public schools, spoke on "Bank of the Mind" at the regular business meeting of the Woodland school P. T. A. last night. There were four major factors brought out in Miss McLeod's talk.

Qualities necessary for leadership and success in life according to the speaker were a definite purpose, doing the one thing which the individual is able to do better than anything else, doing not dreaming, and serving mankind wherever one may be.

The next regular meeting of the association will be a Founder's Day program Feb. 8 at the school.

Mrs. Leo Wright, 198 Park avenue west, and Mrs. Charles Shafer were hostesses yesterday to 26 members and guests of the Tuesday Book club when they met at the Wright home. William Lucius Graves, who is a member of the English department at Ohio State university, was the guest speaker.

"Before I Forget" by Burton Roscoe was the book Mr. Graves reviewed. This is an autobiographical volume dealing with the writer's experiences as a Chicago and New York newspaper man.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting with Mrs. William Black and Mrs. George J. Searle presiding. The table was decorated with pink roses and stevia and tall pink tapers.

Mrs. Harry Lowry, 125 Parkwood boulevard, will be hostess for the next meeting Jan. 18.

D. of I. Plans For Social Activities During January

Joan of Arc Circle, Daughters of Isabella met last night in the club rooms of the Bird building for a regular business meeting followed by cards. Miss Isabel Gerstmeyer, regent was in charge.

During the meeting plans were made for a bridge tournament for the members to begin following the next regular business meeting Feb. 8. There will be a benefit bingo party given by the Circle Jan. 1. Mrs. Thomas Dillon will be in charge of the affair which is open to members and friends.

The next regular social meeting of the group will be held Jan. 25 with Mrs. Louis Murphy in charge.

Following the meeting bridge was played with prizes being awarded to Mrs. G. C. Wehinger, Miss Marie Kalbfleisch, and Mrs. G. C. Rissacher.

O.-B. GIRLS' GROUP HAS REGULAR MEETING

Members of Organization Present Program of Music, Play at Monthly Business Session; Mrs. Ettinger In Charge.

A DINNER followed by a regular business meeting and a program was held last night by members of the O.-B. Girls' club in the Ohio Brass cafeteria. Mrs. F. C. Ettinger, president, called the meeting which was attended by 62 members to order.

Opening the program was a piano duet "The Robin's Return" and "Nola" by Miss Anna Lois Dietrickson and Miss Pauline Statler. A play, "Kid Glove," was presented next.

Members of the cast were the Misses Janet Zimmerman, Mary Vesper, Lillian Marvin, Marie Hecht, Mabel Bentley, Betty Jane Davidson, Louise Fears, Mary Bishop and Betty Fisher.

Miss Dorothy Gannaway sang "Oh, Lovely Night," and "The One Rose." The meeting was concluded with group singing.

For the next meeting the organization will have a supper in the cafeteria Feb. 8.

* * *

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Robert Stephenson and Mrs. Louis DeCamp were prize winners yesterday when members of the American Legion Bridge club met at the Legion Home. Mrs. Robert Jones was hostess. The next meeting will be Jan. 25 with Mrs. Henry as hostess.

Plan Initiation Of Candidates At Sorority Session

Miss Elizabeth Weinert was renamed adviser of the Beta Kappa Tau sorority at the regular meeting of the organization last night in the Larwill rooms of the public library. Miss Thelma Dixon, president, took charge of the business.

Miss Marcielle Cline was re-elected society editor and Miss Margaret Moorehead was re-named to the birthday chairmanship. The constitution was read for new members. Miss Florence Smith and Miss Ethel Heuss, who were presented with gifts.

Perfect attendance gifts were presented to Miss Ruth Schuck and Miss Esther Thrush and to the adviser.

The next regular business meeting will be Jan. 25 with Miss Schuck in charge of the program. Miss Margaret Kochheiser will be hostess at a social meeting at her home on Glenwood boulevard, Jan. 20. This meeting will be an initiation ceremony. Members of the committee are the Misses Mary Louise Spiker, Pauline Folmer, and Wilma Lauder.

Books Fail To Give Information

By VIRGINIA LEE

I've been holding back on my readers. Some time ago a book was given me entitled, "How to Live Without a Woman." It was written, ostensibly by Alexander Wright. I am informed, however, that there is some controversy as to whether the book was written by a man or a woman, some inclining to the belief that a well-known woman wrote it.

I am quite sure a man did, because while it is quite an entertaining book, it is not, like Marjorie Hillis' two, "Live Alone and Like It," and "Orchids On Your Budget," so quotable.

As a matter of fact, neither "Live Alone and Like It" or "How to Live Without a Woman" tell us how to live alone and like it, or how any man lives without a woman. To learn the latter you would have to interview a hermit who lives by himself in a jungle or mountain cave—and not one who lives in an ordinary environment, because the latter doesn't live without a woman, by any means. He has women friends who allow him to entertain them or who entertain him; and who, if the man is that sort and knows his women, clean up his apartment, cook his meals, help with his shopping, etc. In fact, he enjoys their company and their help in every way except by supporting them—or helping to support them.

Well, as the author says, "more and more men are marrying less and less . . . that an increasing number of males are investigating the single life with increasing satisfaction is not to be denied. Look around you. Ask your local renting agents. Ask your lady friends. But you can take my word for it, because I've done all that."

"The main objection to marriage and the family life," continues Mr. Wright, "is that they greatly limit what the male refers to as his freedom. This often is more fancied than real; but no honest-to-God male rates his freedom any less for being fancied."

So does the necessity for earning one's own living and the having to sleep at least an hour or two in the 24, and having to eat and wear clothes limit one's freedom—definitely and really. But we can't seem to get along without them, nevertheless. And if men want their freedom (what is freedom anyway?) I, for one, certainly would not want to marary one of them that felt that way

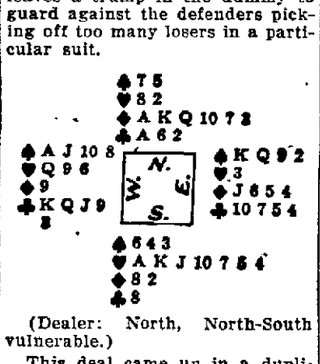
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

BREAKING THE CUSTOM

The usual policy calls for laying down the ace and king when your side has as many as nine trumps. One of the times that this should be violated is when your contract would be beaten if some one opponent happened to hold three to the queen. In that event, it can sometimes be better to take a first round finesse which loses, but leaves a trump in the dummy to guard against the defenders picking off too many losers in a particular suit.



(Dealer: North, North-South vulnerable.)

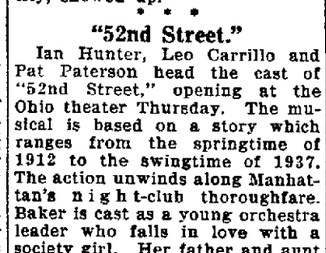
This deal came up in a duplicate tournament and, although all South players reached a contract of 4-Hearts, they were not all successful in making the contract.

In all cases the opening lead was the club K, which was won with dummy's A. Where the declarers player for the drop of the outstanding trumps they were defeated. On the second round of hearts, East gave a spade signal and, as it was not safe to start the diamonds with the adverse trump out, a switch was made to spades when the heart Q was cashed. Had these declarers tried the diamonds before forcing out the heart Q, West would have trumped the second round and started on spades.

The player who made the contract, after cashing the club A, finessed the heart 10, with the idea in mind that if the finesse lost, which it might, he would lose only two spades while he still retained one trump in dummy. When the finesse lost, West continued with clubs, as East had received no opportunity to request the switch.

Have you seen the new sauce pans of glass You can boil, bake, serve and store foods all in the same pan and can put them right over the flame when cooking.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

What is the correct bidding on this deal?

Different Bottles For Perfumes

By GLADYS GLAD

"America's Most Famous Beauty"

ONE OF THE loveliest of the new perfumes that I encountered in my tour of the shops before the holidays comes in an intriguing box of highly-polished walnut. The box is smart and modern in design, and the vial of perfume within, with its tall, cut glass stopper, is pretty enough to grace even a queen's vanity table.

As to the perfume itself, it comes in three odors. There is a very light scent, for morning and street wear. Fine for spectator sports, too, for your perfume should be light on such occasions. Then there is a somewhat heavier scent to match your afternoon frock for tea, bridge and frothy light talk at social festivities. Guaranteed to add charm that will not only delight you, but others about you. The third perfume is a glorious, heady scent that is a wonderful complement to your luxurious furs and elegant gowns this season.

In most of the shops, of course, I found all of your old favorites in the perfume line. But they are newly packaged and all dressed up.

New Odors Intrigue.

For the further glorification of madame and mademoiselle, one prominent manufacturer has copied the ancient money bags of Medieval times. In olden times, you know, women wore tiny silken pouches attached to their girdles, in which they kept their coins. But this new money bag of today, instead of gold, contains a tiny vial of exquisite perfume. It is called the "royal purse," and is of royal blue silk, complete with pull cord and gold ring

THEATER

FUNNY Things Happen: Gary Cooper is still chuckling at the ingenuity of the Ladies Aid society of Rapid City, S. D., who recently wrote him asking for one of his old shirts. They have to raise some money for the church and they are going to auction off kitchen aprons made from the shirt tails of famous men. . . . Errol Flynn's book "Beam Ends," just published, has been barred from Germany on the grounds that it isn't serious enough. . . . Claudette Colbert's trip to France will be her 17th crossing. . . . Clark Gable's newest plaything, a .50 calibre elephant gun, knocked him down the first time he fired it. . . . Twenty-five years after Lois Wilson, former screen player, left her home town of Birmingham, she returned with the road company of "The Women," and invited the 30 members of her old class (she was a school teacher) to attend her show. Eleven members, all that remained in the city, showed up.

"52nd Street."

Ian Hunter, Leo Carrillo and Pat Paterson head the cast of "52nd Street," opening at the Ohio theater Thursday. The musical is based on a story which ranges from the springtime of 1912 to the swingtime of 1937. The action unwinds along Manhattan's night-club thoroughfare. Baker is cast as a young orchestra leader who falls in love with a society girl. Her father and aunt attempts to keep her from the lad, but she revolts and decides to go to work on 52nd Street. How the two work out their romantic troubles forms the balance of the action. Others in the cast are Ella Logan, Sid Silvers, Zasu Pitts, Al Shean and Jack White. Claudette Colbert and Charles Boyer in "Tovarich," plays through today.

* * *

Kay Francis at Madison.

"First Lady," a film version of the Broadway stage hit of the same name, with Kay Francis in the leading role, opens at the Madison theater today. In the picture Miss Francis portrays the wife of a young politican in Washington. In her attempts to become "first lady" she schemes throughout the story—into first one pickle and then another—to make him president. The battle is between another lady, who is backing two men, and the star, whose efforts on her husband's behalf are abetted by several of her closest friends. Supporting the star are Preston Foster, Verree Teasdale, Walter Connolly and Anita Louise.

* * *

Mystery Film.

The mystery-comedy, "Sh! The Octopus," with Hugh Herbert and Allen Jenkens, provides part of the screen entertainment at the Majestic theater through Thursday. Herbert and Jenkens play the roles of detectives out to capture the menace. The funny situations they face forms an interesting story. The romantic lead is supplied by John Aldredge and Marcia Ralston. Clark Gable and Joan Crawford in "Chained," completes the double feature. The second film is a re-issue of the picture that brought fame to both actors, and depicts the adventures of a mistress who falls in love with another man.

* * *

Bob Steele in Western.

Bob Steele tops the cast of the western, "The Red Rope," playing today and Thursday at the Ritz theater. The cowboy plays the part of a quick-on-the-trigger youth who wants to marry Lois January, the daughter of a rich rancher. A hundred and one things seem to happen to halt the proceedings and how he finally overcomes all of them makes a fitting climax. Claudette Colbert, Warren William and Rochelle Hudson head the cast of "Imitation," the second feature. The film was adapted from Fannie Hurst's novel of the same name.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

THERE IS a Pandora in every woman, and I am no exception to the rule. By the time I finished packing Dicky's bags for his sojourn in the city, my curiosity concerning his odd behavior about the packing had mounted to fever heat.

What was there concealed in his room which he did not wish me to see? That was the question which beat upon my brain with every article of clothing I lifted from the bed and then packed neatly away. The rustle of papers, the slamming and locking of his desk had told me that he did not wish me to look inside as I always do when I pack for him. But there must be other things in the bureau drawers which he also wished to keep from my eyes.

My saner self told me to rejoice in the only too evident fact that Dicky meant me to leave his room when he did, and meant to keep it locked. I never have emulated Katie's "snooping" proclivities, but I was glad the temptation to take a more or less casual glance through his belongings was to be put out of my reach.

But it was with difficulty that I schooled myself to an absolute composure of demeanor as I tucked the last pair of socks into place, after inspecting them to see that they were without holes, and pulled down the lids of the big suitcases.

"There!" I said with careful casualness, "every last thing's in. If you'll push down the lids, you'll be finished I'm afraid the fastenings are beyond me."

"Let 'em ride," he said carelessly. "I may want to tuck something in at the last moment. I'll just leave them open. I won't want to use those chairs until I go. I've been meaning to chuck at least one of them out for an age."

Suits Are Packed.

"All right," I returned as carelessly, then with the impulse to "rub salt in the wound" which comes to everyone at some time, I asked nonchalantly:

"When do you want me to pack your suits? They shouldn't be done until the day we start unless you don't care about pressing bills."

"I'm not worrying about them—much," he retorted. "As to that, they'll have to be pressed anyway. I never saw the contraption—no matter how touted—that kept 'em smooth. But I'm not going to trouble you with them. It's more than enough for you to trouble with these traps. Don't worry your head about me any more. I'm practically — nay virtually — packed and ready and raring to go right now."

A Tennis Match.

He took a striding step toward me, caught me to him, and kissed me with rough tenderness.

"You're a good little scout," he said, and, as does every woman of average height or above, I thrilled to the diminutive, thrilled as I always do at Dicky's touch or tender speech, even when I have cause to be angry at him or to distrust him.

"Have you anything else to do right now?" he asked, and I answered truthfully, "Not a thing."

"Then what d'ye say to getting into your tennis things and giving me a game?" he asked, and with a curious little sinking of my heart, I wondered if this were just a plausible excuse to get me away from his room door while he locked it.

"Don't dawdle," he said smiling, "bet you a nickel I'll be ready before you are."

"I'll take you," I said, playing up, "but it isn't fair for you to start until I get to the door of my room."

"All right, Sherlockia, you win," he said. "On your mark! Get set! Ready! Go"

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, Jan. 13.

Omens of upsets, excitement, commotion and strife are seen in this day's astrological chart. Sudden changes may prove beneficial though they may be due to quarrels, contention, bitterness and enmity, both secret and aboveboard. Be wise as to speculation and vigilant to duplicity, trickery and fraud. Travel would profit more if incited by good judgment rather than violence and passion.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which much of the activity may be due to an overaggressive and strenuous spirit, with the energies and faculties running away with good judgment. There is apt to be much disturbance and excitement caused by tempest and tumult, heightened by fraud, treachery and foolish speculation. Shun violence and be alert to secret enmity.

A child born on this day may be tempestuous, violent and reckless in temper and behavior. It may incite bitter enmities, both open and obscure, unless given early discipline or its fiery forces are directed into some constructive channel.

That when she was a youngster she took Father John's Medicine for colds—so now she gives it to her little girl to increase resistance to colds, and to develop more vigorous health.

Its successful use by millions during the past 83 years is a most convincing proof of value. It must be good.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1938.

Permanent prosperity appears to be as difficult to attain as permanent peace.

A conservative is a person who believes that "reform is all right until it tries to change things."

The same folks who were attracted by the chain letter craze still have slot machines and punch boards available to contribute to their social insecurity.

The G-Men and Their Work.

NEED for public understanding of the methods and purposes of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, together with interested co-operation of citizens, was stressed in the address given in Mansfield yesterday by James B. Fitzgerald, member of the Cleveland FBI staff.

The comparatively few years during which the FBI has operated under its present system of nation-wide co-ordination, in detection and apprehension of major criminals, has resulted in an amazing number of successes and has practically wiped out kidnaping and that class of gangster activities which came into vogue following the repeal of prohibition—when the activities of liquor racketeers turned to other kinds of viciousness.

Working under federal authority, and with carefully chosen personnel, the FBI has succeeded in making the entire United States a single unit in crime detection, rather than considering crime a local or state problem, as was done for many years.

Through the National Police Academy, as explained by Mr. Fitzgerald, the FBI has also been enabled to aid in spreading greater efficiency to police departments all over the country, as a result of intensive training made available to police chiefs and other law enforcement officials in courses conducted at Washington, D. C.

It is being made increasingly clear that the Federal Bureau of Investigation is not only an agency of federal government but that it is also an agency maintained to assist the regular law enforcement officials of every state, county and community.

Mansfield is fortunate in that its police chief, Meade K. Bates, is among those who have been schooled in FBI methods and is extending this knowledge to other members of the local police department, as well as giving large groups of Mansfield people opportunity to hear him speak on this subject.

When the work of the FBI (better known as G-men) is more generally understood, both by law-abiding citizens and those inclined to become law violators, there will be even greater appreciation of what has been done by that organization—and also a keener realization of the fact that "crime doesn't pay."

First Step Toward Tax Revision.

THIS regular session of congress faces precisely the same problem that confronted the special session when it met Nov. 15. That problem is: How can the business recession be stopped?

The special session reached a new high in non-achievement. There was much talk concerning ways and means to reassure business—and almost no action.

The great need of the time is actual co-operation by government with industry, which is the sole source of productive employment, investment, spending power and taxation. The first step congress should take, if it is honestly interested in real national recovery, is to revise those two taxes which have done so much to kill business and investment—the undistributed profits tax and the capital gains tax.

Neither of these taxes is an important revenue producer. They actually tend to reduce tax revenues, because of their depressive effect on industrial activity. There is remarkable unanimity of opinion among informed persons as to their dangers. Business men, large and small, are solidly opposed to them. Outstanding economists can find nothing to say in their favor. The nation's principal newspapers, of all political affiliations, are requesting that they be drastically changed. And a large number of public officials, of both parties, have gone on record in favor of revision or outright repeal.

Less Coffee Being Used.

HERE is a curious fact, blamed on the business recession. The consumption of coffee declined 2 per cent in the United States and 4.8 per cent throughout the world in the last half of 1937. It is not clear why this should be attributed wholly to business decline any more than to war or to the disrupted condition of world trade.

Whatever the causes, the fact is a blow to the growers of Brazil and other coffee producing countries. For some years they have had a surplus which has been a knotty problem to governments and growers alike. Marketing schemes, subsidies, destruction of large amounts of coffee, have all been tried, without success. If now the consumption of coffee is to decrease, the problem will be even more acute.

It is reported, on the other hand, that the world's visible supply of coffee, exclusive of that in the interior of Brazil, fell about 10.6 per cent last year. Such a decline, if continued, might help to end the surplus, but it would also create related problems.

Women More Healthy.

HEALTH authorities find that women now live an average age of four years longer than men, and their life expectancy is increasing at a faster rate than men's. This is explained on the ground that women are very careful of their diet, consult physicians more frequently and in general lead a less strenuous life than men.

Maybe so, although Mother's eyebrows may go up as she thinks of meal-preparing, marketing, washing and ironing, dish-washing, sewing and mending, housecleaning, daytime furnace-tending, gardening, and so on. On second thought, perhaps it is all this wholesome and varied exercise that is making women so healthy and long-lived.

Etiquette note: "It is poor taste to ask for a letter of introduction from one who is not an intimate friend"—also not so good to ask for a recommendation from a boss who has fired you for incompetency.

HE'S DETERMINED TO TRAIN THE DOG

"An ownership of about 4 per cent of the securities (of utilities) controls the other 96 per cent. Here is a 96-inch dog being wagged by a four-inch tail."—President Roosevelt in Jackson Day speech.

Analogy Viewed as Slap at New Deal Critics

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON— President Roosevelt has a way of taking an occasional dig at individuals, groups or institutions, against whom or which he seems to harbor feelings of resentment, and yet doing it in such a fashion as not to make him appear to be jabbing at them, and consequently without giving them much chance to come back at him.

For example:

No one can say, definitely, that, in his recent Jackson Day address he intended to "pan" those newspapers of the present time that are critical of his own New Deal policies.

* * *

JEFFERSON ANALOGY

Discussing President Jefferson's program, the president said:

"Against him (Jefferson) were almost all the newspapers and magazines of the day. And so . . . his associates resorted to printing simple leaflets and pamphlets. The handful of printers and editors who helped them were harried and arrested, with the full approval of the great papers and magazines of the day.

"This was the first effort, with the co-operation of the owners of the press, to curb the essential freedom of the press.

"It failed, just as any similar effort would fail today."

* * *

AGAIN—

Then as to President Jackson's era?

"With it (the Jacksonian opposition)," said the president, in his Jackson day talk, "were aligned all of the nationally known press of the day, with the exception of three newspapers."

"F. D." didn't mention, in this instance, that journalistic anti-Jacksonian opposition failed, "just as any similar effort would fail today." That, apparently was left to be taken for granted by listeners-in, surely it was a pretty fair inference.

* * *

AN INTERPRETATION?

What the president did not, more essentially, say was this.

"Most of the press fought Jeffersonianism, and could not get away with it.

"Ditto most of the press and Jacksonianism.

"Most of the press can't lick the New Deal now."

But isn't it a fair interpretation?

* * *

F. D. R.'s VIEW

No one can prove, of course, that the present White House tenant considers the press generally hostile to him.

However, Washington correspondents widely believe that he does.

He does not say so, except, possibly, by implication. He is not explicitly quotable

The bulk of the presidential Jackson Day address has been analyzed and reanalyzed, but its references to the press have not been much touched on, independently of its politico-economic aspects.

* * *

PREFERS RADIO?

The notion among members of the Washington correspondential corps is that the president likes the radio better than he likes his "press conferences."

The reporters' theory is that the president prefers to speak to the public at first hand, rather than through THEM. Perhaps they're jealous Still, there's a public advantage in having their comment as his successive interviews go along.

With the radio, he has an individual advantage over Jefferson and Jackson.

Let's see what popular reactions are in modern times.

Listen, World!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

Lock Yourself Into the Other Fellow's Cell!

HE HAD HIMSELF LOCKED INTO A CELL!

Yes, he "knew" about convicts. He'd read about them, lived with them, talked to thousands of them. But when Clyde Plummer was appointed to be Warden of Folsom, California's "toughest penitentiary," where his brave predecessor had so recently been murdered in a prison outbreak...

HE TURNED HIS BACK ON THE BEAUTIFUL GROUNDS, THE SUNNY OFFICE, AND LET THE STEEL OF A PRISON DOOR, THE DARKNESS AND DESPAIR OF PRISON LIFE, CLANG CLOSE AROUND HIM.

Just a "grand stand gesture"?

If so, it was a strange one to make in a place where maddened men still crouched, slavering and suspicious as wolves, on the blood scent. "Outside" they'd warned him of what might await him. Advised him to follow the iron-first precedents of other wardens....to set an "example" so brutal that it would serve as a shackling terror, by night or day....

For so clearly they saw the picture—one man against fourteen hundred, and those fourteen hundred newly inflamed by a killing . . . the snarl and stink of death.

He'd better do something!

He had

Even while they talked—safe, respectable men peering curiously at those barred and shuffling creatures, as one peers at a padding tiger—even while they chatted, swapping jokes, smoking fat cigars, watching the clock for their return to the city...he had gone apart, walk uncertainly down echoing gray vistas, feeling rather than seeing the eyes upon him until, coming at last to a darker, blanker emptiness, he had stepped inside and felt the door clang behind him—then sent them all away...

Afterwards, facing their barrage of excited questioning, he had said very little. Merely something about "getting the feel of it."

But his eyes had revealed more than his words. Those eyes with their remembered horror. So this was what a man faced...day after day...month after month...year after year? Only this? MY GOD!

No, they didn't get much out of Clyde Plummer, now Warden of Folsom Penitentiary when they questioned him—those comfortable, somewhat complacent, "outside" friends of his. But when, an hour after, he entered the mess hall for his first meal in his new position, there was an answer none had ever heard before in those blood-stained walls.

Not the silence some expected... nor the snarl some dreaded... silence and snarl of captive beasts.

But suddenly, proudly, as man rises to man, fourteen hundred shackled men rose AND CHEERED!

He had "met them"...he had "got across to them" in the only way that meant anything...HE HAD HAD HIMELF LOCKED IN.

HE HAD PUT ASIDE HIS SAFETY AND RESPECTABILITY FOR THE WHILE AND BECOME BARRED AS THEY WERE BARRED, ONE OF THEMSELVES, IN THE LONELY DARK.

* * *

AND so, in time, there may come someone you'll feel you should judge...someone who's broken the law you respect...lowered the standard you uphold...someone you think should be punished.

Very well, then...But before you do it—

ENTER THE CELL YOURSELF!

Force yourself, for an hour or a day, to face the loneliness that erring woman faced...to endure the humiliation that bitter man endured...to carry the load either had carried...to feel their heartbreak, humiliation and despair.

FOR JUST ONE HOUR...SIT IN THE OTHER FELLOW'S CELL!

And then—come back and face him . . . and see if the same gap lies between your two separate hearts.

Timely Editorial

Common Sense.

In striking contrast with some of the erratic utterances of so-called official spokesmen in Washington is the speech of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace delivered recently in Pittsburgh. The sentiments are sure to find hearty indorsement, not only of the farm people, but of the great majority of right-thinking people everywhere.

"What we need," said Wallace, "is a long, steady pull upward . . . It doesn't do either labor or agriculture any good to scare capital. Instead, they must all find ways to work together."

That is common sense. When the welfare of everybody depends on work, wages, production and profits, co-operation to keep all industry at highest efficiency is for the benefit of all. The administration will do well to encourage Secretary Wallace in voicing such sentiments.—Detroit News.

DAILY BIBLE THOUGHT

KING OF NATIONS: All the ends of the world shall remember and turn unto the Lord: and all the kindreds of the nations shall worship before Thee. For the kingdom is the Lord's: and He is the governor among the nations. —Psalms 22:27, 28.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL—

Trend Seen Toward Inflation.

A REVIEW of the questions asked by the senate committee investigating the recession, and the answers given, is discouraging. If the leaders of the nation have no deeper thought than this, the United States will drift from this recession to inflation—and then calamity.

In fact, the Wall Street speculative view that inflation is certain to come—to a degree—is the cause of any rise in stocks. Inflation, however, does not go merely so far—it continues to expand until the bubble bursts

The New Deal may have some young economists and straight-thinkers who could get to fundamentals, but their voices probably will be drowned out. As to the Old Guard, they still desire to go back to 1929—and all its consequent horrors.

In brief, to whom can the people look?

* * *

HULL

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, whose reciprocity agreements are undergoing the fury of regional attacks, is believed by conservative economists, to have the soundest road away from inflation. But Hull is not dramatic. His clear-as-a-bell thought is not well-expressed for political or popular consumption. His work will not stand out until half-a-century hence. Retrospect may cause it to appear of highest value.

Attacks on monopolies, by the younger men of the administration, are more to the popular taste. (In spite of statements by columnists to the contrary, public reaction to the Jackson-Ickes speeches was favorable.) The question soon may rise, however, whether eggs can be unscrambled. If American business is lodged in the grip of a few monopolies, what would occur if it were redistributed?

Confusion—and failure. The age is moving, not toward the individual, but away from him. Instead of smaller monopoly, there will be larger, all-inclusive monopoly. The question is not destruction of monopoly—but shall there be private monopoly and control of our lives, or goverpment monopoly and control of our lives, or communal monopoly, with government supposedly in the hands of the many? (Communal must not be confused with Soviet communism. There are communal enterprises throughout the world, especially in the marketing of foodstuffs.)

* * *

OUR DESTINATION?

The final step in present world trends may be communal monopoly. The stages to it may be several—bitterly contested — but the destination SEEMS communal monopoly, even in the countries that now are Fascist, for fascism's inflation, also, will wear off.

Many believe it will not be Reds who will destroy the value of money, but competition-mad monopolies, private (as in Great Britain and the U. S.) as well as state-controlled (as in Italy, Germany, Japan) that will make money worthless. How? Through recurrent depressions and inflations.

Such monopolies are adding millions more people to the burden to be carried on doles and relief. They are destroying their own customers speedier than any enemy could. They are aiming toward a changed social order faster than any "alien influence" possibly could. Worst of all—they do not see it The talk at the senate hearing is discouragingly empty—much of it piffle, all tragic.

* * *

THAT GERMAN STORY

German newspapers made much over the "failure of democracy" because 65,000 relief dependents in Cleveland went hungry when the Ohio state senate delayed relief appropriations.

It was not the failure of democracy that brought this tragedy. It was fascism—American brand. The Ohio state administration, in the clutches of what many Ohioans describe as dictators, has run counter to the New Deal on every possible occasion. It has run roughshod over liberal Republicans as well—Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati. It has barely a newspaper supporter in the state. Republicans as well as Democrats plan to join hands to bring democracy (small d) back to Ohio.

Tens of thousands do walk the streets hungry because there is anti-democratic Hitlerism in power.

(Herr Hitler should read the editorials in Ohio papers. At least papers still are permitted to say what they please here.)

Health Advice

—By DR. ROYAL COPELAND—

Operation for Kidney Stones.

WITHIN THE past 10 or 15 years there has been general interest in the part played by the vitamins in the prevention and cure of disease. Recently the relationship of vitamins to the formation of internal stones has aroused much speculation. Their possible use as a means of dissolving stones in the kidney has given hope to great numbers of sufferers from this affliction.

But let us be frank about it; as measure by the use of which stones in the kidney can be dissolved. It is true that a high-vitamin diet, yet we know of no definite diet or and especially what we call an acid-ash diet, have proven of value in certain cases. But even in such cases there are other factors which must be given consideration.

"Urolithiasis" is the big medical name for stones in the urinary tract. Some persons are much more likely than the majority of the population to suffer from the formations of stones in the kidney.

Such stones may cause severe agonizing pain. As a rule, it is only a question of time when they will cause damage to the kidney. Once that organ is damaged, it becomes necessary not only to remove the stones from the kidney but in many instances actually to remove the diseased organ itself.

Fortunately, we have been given two kidneys. This is another example of nature's determination to provide a factor of safety. If one kidney is diseased it may become necessary to have it removed. If it is removed and the remaining kidney is normal, no ill effects are experienced.

Many Sufferers.

The number of sufferers from kidney stones is very large. In many an instance the sacrifice of a kidney has been brought on only by neglect. My advice is to consult with the doctor if you have a stone in the kidney, and follow his advice. Do not resort to the use of any remedies unless they have been prescribed by your physician.

Bear in mind that even if pain and discomfort are absent there is danger just the same. "Silent" stones may be present for several years without the sufferer being aware of them. In spite of this freedom from pain and discomfort, the damage is progressive and ultimately the kidney must be removed.

Mild symptoms, such as frequency in urination and burning or discomfort, should demand immediate investigation. If necessary, the doctor will make a cystoscopic examination, using a delicate and ingenious instrument for the purpose. By the various tests the ability of the kidney to do its job can be dettermined. By means of X-ray it is also possible actually to visualize the stones and in this way determine treatment.

ALL of US

—By MARSHALL MASLIN

I Have Won!

I HAVE HAD the best of it.

If it all ends now, my life is on the good side of the Great Ledger, and Life is my creditor.

Whatever happens now, I am the winner.

Just because I am alive, that has happened to me and I have had the best of it.

Yes, I know there is pain and bitterness in the world. Poverty, stupidity, ignorance and arrogance. Envy, jealousy, disease and brutality. Blindness, agony, cruelty, unspeakable hatred. . . . And many a child gets a rotten deal and many a man, though he does not complain, might cry that he never had as good a chance as the next fellow.

Too, too true, all true. And yet, I do believe that just to have been alive is richness. . . . Just to have breathed deeply on a sunny morning. To have thrust your shoulders against a driving wind. Just to have been hungry and to have eaten. To have been thirsty and to have drunk. To have been lonely and found one friend. To have loved and to have known that precious humbling knowledge that one has love. . . . To feel the beat of the heart, the stroke of the pulse. To watch the waves roll in on a rocky coast, to see the sun rise in magnificence and descend in glory and to watch the great stars come forth in the limitless heavens. To feel pity and awe and joy and even anger and grief and bewilderment. . . . These are all part of that great adventure of being alive that I have known and you and you have known and which cannot be taken away from us.

And any one may stand erect and square his shoulders and say to his tormenters:

"Though you torture me and though you put me in chains and gag my mouth and reduce me to poverty. And though you take even my life from me and crush my abandoned body with great stones, one thing you cannot take from me: I have been alive. I know I have been alive, for a fleeting instant I have been a part of the great current of humanity. And in that stream I have done my part and achieved my immortality."

And that is why I may say that, whatever happens now, no matter how soon it all ends for me, I have won!

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Pallbearers."

Pallbearers are a rather mournful topic; being, however, a very definite element of our social life, we cannot help seeing them, hearing about them, perhaps even having conferred upon us the sad honor of being one of them; why not, therefore, the reason for the appellation.

"Pall" comes from the Latin pallium, which means a cover or a mantle and may be used to designate any kind of rich cloth.

In olden times "pall" was used particularly in allusion to the heavy covering that was draped over the coffin at a funeral ceremony.

The men who carried their friend to his last resting place literally bore upon their shoulders the "pall" and so came to be referred to as the pallbearers.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

EWING GALLOWAY, the photographer, raising cattle and mules down in Kentucky, has plenty of company in his back-to-land hegira. Corey Ford rarely leaves his New Hampshire acres. Earl Carroll is toying with a get-away-from-it-all ranch in the Imperial Valley.

Farming has become the chief topic among the smart talkers lunching at "No. 21" and the minked revelers at El Morocco after the play. Hendrik Van Loon spends much time gazing over his rolling acres in Connecticut. Mrs. Ring Lardner rarely leaves her rural residence.

Dorothy Parker has her farm down in the Pocahontas section of Pennsylvania. So has George S. Kaufman. Alexander Woollcott is studying soil erosion and other agricultural perplexities at his retreat in Vermont, after completely abandoning his New York citizenship.

Frank Crumit, of the radio, has refurbished an old farm house in Ohio for himself and Julia Sanderson. Frank Sullivan wavers between a Gramercy Park flat or following the furrows near his boyhood home at Saratoga Springs. Sinclair Lewis has gone permanently rural. So it goes.

Age of specialization: Carl Crow, now the foremost authority on China and Chinese, never saw a Chink outside the local laundryman, until he was 27 years old.

The sudden oratorical ease of Robert L. Ripley over the radio and on the banquet dais is the celebrity accomplishment of the hour. Once painfully shy in facing the public, Ripley indulged many hesitations and now and then a splutter. He was about to call it a day when friends urged him to take lessons in public speaking. He devoted a year to it and now has everything under control.

Visitors to the famous Theodore Roosevelt estate at Sagamore Hill are generally astonished to find the owner had only oil lamps in his bathrooms. The Colonel lost an eye and believed lamp reading conserved his sight. After his passing, the house was wired. But for some reason the bathrooms remained horse and buggy. Incidentally, the bath towels are marked "R. of S."—Roosevelt of Sagamore.

The old-fashioned spelling bee has been given swift tosses by the mental high steppers. Especially teams featured by Lowell Thomas. Many cocktail parties are winding up choosing sides and making desperate efforts to spell each other down. Dale Carnegie is one of the crack spellers and Homer Croy is no slouch. The big word stumbler is bdellium.

Cabaret scene: At the edge of a floor show in Harlem, a young debbie from down town was trying to appear worldly. A dainty brown-skin slid sinuously out on the floor, her initial movements suggesting the airy grace of a wayward breeze. The debbie lighted a cigaret and settled herself to view the number with lack-lustre eyes. Then, like the sudden release of a steel spring, the dancer began to "get hot," releasing a flutter of gyrations that ended in a few paroxysms spang in front of the shocked visitor. Startled, she began puffing furiously until the cigaret burned right down to her pearly teeth. And then she looked about helplessly as though she wished the floor would swallow her whole.

Not many of the town's cafe gallants are so ubiquitous as the natitly habited cartoonist, Ham Fisher. When he visits a restaurant or night club he does a thoroughgoing job—not sitting at one table but practically all. In the parlance, the Ham Fishers are known as "cafe flitters" and rarely stay put. Charles Bedaux, the Duke of Windsor's side kick for a while anyway, was one of the gentry. And Elsa Maxwell is the most dextrous in the art among the feminine division. And by contrast there is the self-effacing Lee Shubert, who likes to drop in at night clubs but always sits obscurely in a darkened corner.

Tricks in all trades: The fussy codger next table sent back four dishes at dinner last evening. When he departed it was inquired of the captain: "Not much profit in that check." He replied: "Don't be ridic. He doesn't know that each time he got back the same dish, just flossed up a bit differently."
